SECRETARY KELLOGG assures Senator Borah that in Nicaragua we are not taking sides with the established, shaky government, or with the victorious rebels. Our forces are only protecting American life and property.

No one questions Secretary Kellogg's absolute sincerity, and his statement is reassuring.

On the other hand, Senator Borah says:

"The revolution in Nicaragua was inspired and is directed by eight or ten persons here who are not even Nicaraguans."

It is perhaps none of the American people's business, but they would like to know who it is that pulls strings in a neighboring republic, making it necessary to send our forces there. We would not let Nicaragua land forces here. Why bully a small neighbor? We don't land forces in Russia, you'll notice!

MUSSOLINI says, "I shall make no new provinces until 1932. Then I will reward those regions which show themselves laborious, disciplined and prolific."

Three wonderful words for a nation that wishes to dominate in old Roman fashion, laborious, disciplined, prolific.

Laborious, you produce results; disciplined, you obey without question orders of a mind better than yours; prolific, you provide children to work after you have worked yourself to death.

Three better words, for America, were chosen by a former president of the Santa Fe, Mr. Ripley: C[illegible] deputize, supervise.

DR. WORK, secretary of the interior, says of the 1927 outlook: "There is not a single distress sign on the whole economic horizon."

Secretary Work doesn't sit at his desk, guessing. He travels over the country constantly, studying opportunities for national improvement. He knows conditions, and his opinion is important and encouraging.

Be patient with static, when it interferes with jazz music or prize fight news coming sweetly over your radio. Prof. Pupin of Columbia college, says static and "fading" enemies of radio enthusiasts, really indicate that other planets are trying to talk to us. They send powerful messages that interfere with our feeble radio, and Pupin thinks we shall understand those messages within 25 years.

WISE men in Milwaukee will devote three days to discussing high questions, including this, "Can Christianity be of any practical use in changing existing conditions?"

Christianity has been changing existing conditions for about nineteen hundred years; there is no reason why it should break down now. To "love thy neighbor as thyself," trying to help him, instead of trying to rob him, will always improve conditions if men mean it.

Good Proportions In the Diet

The problem of serving well-balanced meals often causes the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness and cost must all be considered.

The booklet," Good Proportions in the Diet," prepared by the States Relation Service of the Department of Agriculture covers thoroughly every detail of food selection, tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this book. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT WILL BE CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

Former Football Star Fights to Escape Prison Sentence.

DENIES CHARGE

Seeks Third Trial in Shooting of Taxi Driver.

George A. Anderson, 44, former automobile dealer and college football star, twice convicted of manslaughter in the shooting of Frank McLain, 27, taxicab driver, will carry his fight for a third trial to the supreme court, it was announced today through his counsel, Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

Seek Stay of Execution.

A petition in error will be filed as a result of the appellate court's affirmation of the Columbiana county common pleas court conviction in the second trial, it was said.

Application probably will be made for a stay of execution of the indeterminate sentence of four years and eight months to 20 years in the penitentiary metes out to the convicted man.

Anderson is now at liberty under $5,000 bond pending outcome of the court fight.

Shooting Occurred Oct. 7, 1925.

McLain was fatally shot on Oct. 7, 1925, in Anderson's bedroom in Second street after answering a taxicab call.

At his first trial, Anderson was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to serve from five to 20 years in the penitentiary. He had served four months when the court of appeals ordered a new trial. He was returned to Lisbon, released on bond and a short time later again convicted of manslaughter. Credit for the four months' imprisonment was given in the second sentence.

The ruling of the appellate court affirming the decision of the common pleas court was written by Judge John Pollock, of Belmont county, and concurred in by Judges L. T. Farr, Columbiana county, and James Roberts, Ashtabula county.

The decision consisting of 16 typewritten pages reviews the evidence in the case.

Appellate Court Ruling.

The appellate court ruling, in part, says:

"Without discussing it, we think there was sufficient testimony if the jury gave credit to it, to sustain the claim of the state that George Anderson at the time of the commission of this act, was intoxicated. He testifies that the discharge of the gun was an accident, that in reaching for the matches, and just as he took the matches, he stumbled against the dresser and the gun was discharged. If it was so discharged accidentally, he could not be convicted. The question then arises, whether or not the jury were warranted under the testimony which we have referred to, in finding George Anderson guilty of intentionally, while in an intoxicated condition, discharging the gun.

"It must be remembered that a reviewing court cannot reverse the case on this ground, because its view might have been different from that of the jury, but the court must find that the verdict of the jury manifestly against this degree of evidence required to convict in order to reverse. In order to inflict this wound the gun

UNCLE SAM WILL QUIT USE OF WOOD ALCOHOL AS DENATURING ELEMENT

Treasury Chemists Seek Satisfactory Substitute, With View to Possible Elimination of Poison.

NEW FORMULAE ARE SUGGESTED

Government Experts Disclose What People Get When They Drink "Doctored" Liquor.

By ROBERT S. THRONBURGH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced officially today that the government plans to take all poison out of industrial alcohol.

New formulae already have been prepared for denaturing which render industrial alcohol sickening for humans but not deadly, Mellon said. To a certain extent, these formulae have been put into actual use.

Removal of Poison From Alcohol.

Mellon feels that the government should not attempt to enforce the prohibition law by the use of poison such as wood alcohol. He explained that the present situation is being remedied as rapidly as possible.

Instructions have been given to treasury chemists to continue the investigation into all denaturing processes with a view to removal of the virulent poisons from industrial alcohol.

Referring to the general phases of prohibition, Mellon declared that it is unreasonable even to expect complete enforcement. It would be like anticipating that enforcement of any law would be complete. The secretary feels that it is a question as to what extent the law can be enforced.

According to the secretary, the treasury is endeavoring to bring about the most complete enforcement possible.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Use of wood alcohol as a denaturing element may be discontinued whenever treasury chemists find a satisfactory substitute, it was disclosed today.

New denaturing formulae are under investigation by Dr. J. M. Doran and William V. Linder, chief chemists of the prohibition unit, with a view to possible elimination of all poison from industrial alcohol.

While the federal law provides for wood alcohol as a basic denaturing element, Doran explained that its use is optional.

"Wood alcohol is the most satisfactory denaturant so far discovered," Doran said. "The government is investigating denaturants seeking to discover an element more difficult to remove from alcohol by redistillation. If a non-poisonous element is found more suited to the purpose than wood alcohol it will be used."

The law provides that the denaturing process of alcohol shall "destroy its character as a beverage and render it unfit for liquid medicinal purposes." The character and quantity of the denaturing material shall be prescribed by the treasury.

Wood alcohol is used in but five of the present 70 formulae for denaturing, according to Linder.

Reveal Denaturing Elements.

Prohibition chemists insist that four per cent wood alcohol does not create a deadly poison unless used continually over a long period. A beverage with this and other denaturants, however, is admittedly injurious to health.

2,897 POISON LIQUOR DEATHS ARE REPORTED

New York Toll From Holiday Drinking Is 34.

H[illegible]LAN

Government Policy of Denaturing Alcohol is Denounced.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Eight additional deaths attributed to poison liquor today brought New York's toll from holiday drinking up to 34.

With this record casualty list for the metropolitan districts came figures from many parts of the nation showing an astounding number of deaths from poison alcohol for the first 51 weeks of the year.

The staggering total for the country, in reports available up to today is 2,897. Admittedly, the figure actually is much larger, as an exact total of the casualties cannot be obtained, it was said.

With this rise in liquor deaths there was considerable condemnation by educators and labor leaders of the government policy of denaturing industrial alcohol which finds it way into the hands of bootleggers.

Dr. Butler Calls It "Murder."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university denounced the government's policy in denaturing liquor he said:

"Murder! Just plain, unadulterated murder by our glorious paternal government, is what I think of the deaths attributed to consumption of liquor manufactured from poisoned alcohol.

"Let it go. Why stop it? The more victims of governmental murder, the better the government, I suppose. To a government which has undertaken to do what already has been done in this tragedy of prohibition a few more murders mean nothing."

Best available statistics on the 1926 deaths follow:

747 in New York City, including holiday toll.

808 in other parts of New York state.

1,342 for other parts of the country heard from up to today.

Mellett's Slayer Will be Sentenced Within 10 Days.

PEGGY IS FREED

Second Defendnt Will Face Jury on February 7.

CANTON, O., Dec. 30.—Judge E. W. Diehl today overruled the motion of Attorney E. L. Mills, for a new trial for Patrick Eugene McDermott, convicted of first degree murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher. Mills said he did not care to argue the motion.

Judge Diehl said he would sentence McDermott within a week or 10 days.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock released Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, witness in the McDermott case, on her own recognizance.

Ben Rudner will probably be the next tried for the Mellett murder. The case has been tentatively set for February 7.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD CLUB MEN

Memorial Services are Held at Kiwanis Luncheon.

Memorial services for five deceased members were conducted by the Kiwanis club in connection with the luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today.

Those to whom a tribute was paid were Monroe Patterson, Elias L. Bradfield, Rev. Lionel C. Difford, Robert L. Parker and Thomas F. Anderson. Five-minute talks were made by W. A. Weaver who eulogized Mr. Patterson; Rev. B. R. Johnson, who lauded E. L. Bradfield; Attorney R. G. Thompson, who paid a tribute to Rev. Mr. Difford; John E. Newell, who revered the memory of R. L. Parker and R. C. Heddleston, who praised T. F. Anderson.

Sacred music was rendered by the Kiwanis Glee club, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers as the accompanist. This group of singers included J. O. Heddleston, William T. McNutt, Kurt Bergner, John Golden, Dr. Clyde Larkins, Wilbur Glenn, Robert Douglass, James Anderson, Cyril Taylor and Olen Dawson.

Clarence C. Cline presided. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Laughlin.

CORONER VAN FOSSAN RULES "ACCIDENT" IN EAST PALESTINE CRASH

Despite Verdict, Witnesses are Summoned for Investigation of Manslaughter Charge Against Roy Corbin, 22, Driver of Automobile Which Killed Two Children on Jimtown Hill.

FINDINGS SAY COAL MINER OPERATED HIS MOTOR CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS

Accused Man, Who is Alleged to Have Abandoned His Machine and Fled Following Fatalities, is Prisoner in County Jail in Default of $3,000 Bond.

Although Coroner J. M. Van Fossan yesterday returned an "accidental death" verdict in the coasting track crash at East Palestine Sunday evening, in which William Cartwright, 15, and Viola Burson, 14, were killed, the Columbiana county grand jury, opening its session at Lisbon next Monday, will investigate the charge of manslaughter against Roy Corbin, 22, also of East Palestine, driver of the automobile which figured in the Yuletide tragedy, county officials said today.

Summonses for 58 witnesses, who will appear in the Corbin inquiry as well as other cases on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were served today by Sheriff George Wright and Deputies Lawrence Kindsvatter and E. J. Fitzgerald. The grand jury is expected to report Thursday.

Coroner Van Fossan, in his verdict in the East Palestine case, alleges that Corbin was violating a section of the state law "by driving without lights" at the time of the accident.

Corbin, unable to furnish $3,000 bond, has been committed to the county jail.

Coroner's Verdict.

The coroner's verdict follows:

"Having heard the statements of witnesses and examined the bodies of the dead children, I find that William Cartwright and Viola Burson came to death by a collision of a small sled on which they were riding and an automobile. The young people were coasting down what is known as the 'Jimtown' hill and Roy Corbin was driving up the hill in a Ford roadster, without headlights. When the collision occurred the occupants of the sled were killed. Hence, the verdict, 'accidental death due to the violation of the state law, by driving a machine without lights.'"

Corbin, a coal miner, abandoned his machine and fled following the accident, police said. The charge of manslaughter was filed against him by Unity township officials. Corbin surrendered to the East Palestine police Monday afternoon.

Funeral services for the two children, both members of the East Palestine Junior High school, were conducted in their homes yesterday afternoon. The body of the Cartwright boy was buried in the East Palestine cemetery, while the remains of the Burson child were interred in the Achortown cemetery.

KANSAS CITY FIEND HIDES

Police Watch Suburban Shack for Strangler-Slayer.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—That the strangler-slayer who has taken a toll of three lives here this week is in hiding somewhere in the eastern suburbs of this city is the tip on which police were working today.

Further strengthening of the theory that the fiend who tool the lives of two women and an infant here by gaining access to homes pretending to search for a room is the same men who terrorized other cities, was brought out when witnesses told police of having seen a man answering the discription of the slayer who strangled 11 persons to death in Pacific coast cities and one at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

A police squad this morning was detailed to watch a shack in the "East Bottoms" from which several persons are said to have seen a man come and go the past several days.

Fred Walters Home, In Glenmoor, is Destroyed by Fire

Two-story frame house owned by William Bell and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walters, along the Lincoln highway in Glenmoor was destroyed by fire at 9:45 o'cock last night. The loss is estimated at $6,000.

Mrs. Walters and a child were alone when the fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered. Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and two men from the Central Station hurried to the scene of the blaze but the house could not be saved.

C. W. Hellyer Bids $25,125 at Sale Of Ellis Home

Two pieces of property in East Liverpool were sold at sheriff's sale this week by Sheriff George Wright.

The former home of A. G. Ellis, Thompson avenue, was bid in by C. W. Hellyer for $25,125. The sale was ordered to satisfy a claim by the Finley Brothers' Lumber company of Chester.

At a bid of $4,350, Attorney W. H. Vodrey purchased the Anderson property in East Fourth street near the high school building.

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF "THE LITTLE WHITE HAG," REVIEW-TRIBUNE SERIAL, BY FRANCIS BEEDING

CHAPTER ONE.

I met him first at Dijon, on my way from Paris to Geneva.

I was drifting quietly down towards the South and for the last few days had been wandering pleasantly among the vines of the Cote d'Or. I intended to take the express from Dijon to Geneva as, having already loitered a good deal by the way, I was now in some hurry to arrive at my destination.

Dijon I knew as a town famous for its locomotives and its good food. I am not myself a gastronome, but my Paris friends had impressed upon me that nowhere in the world does one eat and drink with such cunning and in such generous measure as in the region between Dijon and the Swiss frontier and that the men of Dijon justly regarded their city as its capital. There are, it seems, in this part of Europe inns to which Sunday pilgrimages are made by devotees of the kitchen, pilgrimages of from two or three hundred kilometers, and I had heard little names mentioned with great reverence—Belley, Virieu le Grand, Artamare, Bourg-en-Bresse.

I was not personally in search of exquisite meats. Indeed, I am frequently chaffed by my Paris friends for indifference in this respect. They take it in good part for a token of my American barbarism. He eats like a savage, they say, because he is hungry. However, I had promised them if ever I should come to Dijon to put up at the "Cloche d'Or"—which, it seems, for the European connoisseur of the table, is as sacred as Mecca.

Arriving at the hotel, I was shown casually to a double-bedded room and subsequently ushered with hushed and expected ceremony to the dinner table. There I was waited upon with the deference due to a traveler who has expressed a desire to dine well and to be guided correctly in his choice of food. I put myself in the hands of the maitre d'hotel, who, menu in hand, discoursed expressively of the dishes which he suggested and the wines which alone were worthy to accompany them.

I had arrived at an early hour, for I had started my day at cock-crow to enjoy the freshness of the morning, and I intended to catch the train which passed through Dijon at about 2 a. m. I was, therefore, proposing to retire to my room immediately after dinner in order to get some four or five hours sleep before the train arrived.

My plan, however, was not to be so easily fulfilled. I had finished dining—it was, I think, about eight o'clock—and was taking coffee when there appeared at the door a stranger, who, after looking carefully around the room, advanced slowly in my direction. I thought he was intending to take a table next to mine, which was disengaged, and I did not remark him particularly, except to note that he was a small, unobtrusive kind of a man, wearing a rather shabby overcoat with a velvet collar.

Suddenly, however, he came to a stand beside me, and, the next moment I found I was being greeted by a fellow countryman.

"Pardon me," he said "but you are an American?"

I replied that I was indeed an American, but forbore to add that I had passed the last ten years or more in Paris. He seemed relieved to find that I was indeed a patriot.

"In that case,' he said, "I hope you may be willing to render me a service which I should highly appreciate."

CANTON, O., Dec. 30.—Judge E. W. Diehl today overruled the motion of Attorney E. L. Mills, for a new trial for Patrick Eugene McDermott, convicted of first degree murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher. Mills said he did not care to argue the motion.

Judge Diehl said he would sentence McDermott within a week or 10 days.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock released Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, witness in the McDermott case, on her own recognizance.

Ben Rudner will probably be the next tried for the Mellett murder. The case has been tentatively set for February 7.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD CLUB MEN

Memorial Services are Held at Kiwanis Luncheon.

Memorial services for five deceased members were conducted by the Kiwanis club in connection with the luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today.

Those to whom a tribute was paid were Monroe Patterson, Elias L. Bradfield, Rev. Lionel C. Difford, Robert L. Parker and Thomas F. Anderson. Five-minute talks were made by W. A. Weaver who eulogized Mr. Patterson; Rev. B. R. Johnson, who lauded E. L. Bradfield; Attorney R. G. Thompson, who paid a tribute to Rev. Mr. Difford; John E. Newell, who revered the memory of R. L. Parker and R. C. Heddleston, who praised T. F. Anderson.

Sacred music was rendered by the Kiwanis Glee club, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers as the accompanist. This group of singers included J. O. Heddleston, William T. McNutt, Kurt Bergner, John Golden, Dr. Clyde Larkins, Wilbur Glenn, Robert Douglass, James Anderson, Cyril Taylor and Olen Dawson.

Clarence C. Cline presided. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Laughlin.

CORONER VAN FOSSAN RULES "ACCIDENT" IN EAST PALESTINE CRASH

Despite Verdict, Witnesses are Summoned for Investigation of Manslaughter Charge Against Roy Corbin, 22, Driver of Automobile Which Killed Two Children on Jimtown Hill.

FINDINGS SAY COAL MINER OPERATED HIS MOTOR CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS

Accused Man, Who is Alleged to Have Abandoned His Machine and Fled Following Fatalities, is Prisoner in County Jail in Default of $3,000 Bond.

Although Coroner J. M. Van Fossan yesterday returned an "accidental death" verdict in the coasting track crash at East Palestine Sunday evening, in which William Cartwright, 15, and Viola Burson, 14, were killed, the Columbiana county grand jury, opening its session at Lisbon next Monday, will investigate the charge of manslaughter against Roy Corbin, 22, also of East Palestine, driver of the automobile which figured in the Yuletide tragedy, county officials said today.

Summonses for 58 witnesses, who will appear in the Corbin inquiry as well as other cases on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were served today by Sheriff George Wright and Deputies Lawrence Kindsvatter and E. J. Fitzgerald. The grand jury is expected to report Thursday.

Coroner Van Fossan, in his verdict in the East Palestine case, alleges that Corbin was violating a section of the state law "by driving without lights" at the time of the accident.

Corbin, unable to furnish $3,000 bond, has been committed to the county jail.

Coroner's Verdict.

The coroner's verdict follows:

"Having heard the statements of witnesses and examined the bodies of the dead children, I find that William Cartwright and Viola Burson came to death by a collision of a small sled on which they were riding and an automobile. The young people were coasting down what is known as the 'Jimtown' hill and Roy Corbin was driving up the hill in a Ford roadster, without headlights. When the collision occurred the occupants of the sled were killed. Hence, the verdict, 'accidental death due to the violation of the state law, by driving a machine without lights."

Corbin, a coal miner, abandoned his machine and fled following the accident, police said. The charge of manslaughter was filed against him by Unity township officials. Corbin surrendered to the East Palestine police Monday afternoon.

Funeral services for the two children, both members of the East Palestine Junior High school, were conducted in their homes yesterday afternoon. The body of the Cartwright boy was buried in the East Palestine cemetery, while the remains of the Burson child were interred in the Achortown cemetery.

NEW YEAR'S DAY GUN SHOOT HERE

KANSAS CITY FIEND HIDES

Police Watch Suburban Shack for Strangler-Slayer.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—That the strangler-slayer who has taken a toll of three lives here this week is in hiding somewhere in the eastern suburbs of this city is the tip on which police were working today.

Further strengthening of the theory that the fiend who tool the lives of two women and an infant here by gaining access to homes pretending to search for a room is the same men who terrorized other cities, was brought out when witnesses told police of having seen a man answering the discription of the slayer who strangled 11 persons to death in Pacific coast cities and one at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

A police squad this morning was detailed to watch a shack in the "East Bottoms" from which several persons are said to have seen a man come and go the past several days.

Fred Walters Home, In Glenmoor, is Destroyed by Fire

Two-story frame house owned by William Bell and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walters, along the Lincoln highway in Glenmoor was destroyed by fire at 9:45 o'cock last night. The loss is estimated at $6,000.

Mrs. Walters and a child were alone when the fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered. Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and two men from the Central Station hurried to the scene of the blaze but the house could not be saved.

C. W. Hellyer Bids $25,125 at Sale Of Ellis Home

Two pieces of property in East Liverpool were sold at sheriff's sale this week by Sheriff George Wright.

The former home of A. G. Ellis, Thompson avenue, was bid in by C. W. Hellyer for $25,125. The sale was ordered to satisfy a claim by the Finley Brothers' Lumber company of Chester.

At a bid of $4,350, Attorney W. H. Vodrey purchased the Anderson property in East Fourth street near the high school building.

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF "THE LITTLE WHITE HAG," REVIEW-TRIBUNE SERIAL, BY FRANCIS BEEDING

CHAPTER ONE.

I met him first at Dijon, on my way from Paris to Geneva.

I was drifting quietly down towards the South and for the last few days had been wandering pleasantly among the vines of the Cote d'Or. I intended to take the express from Dijon to Geneva as, having already loitered a good deal by the way, I was now in some hurry to arrive at my destination.

Dijon I knew as a town famous for its locomotives and its good food. I am not myself a gastronome, but my Paris friends had impressed upon me that nowhere in the world does one eat and drink with such cunning and in such generous measure as in the region between Dijon and the Swiss frontier and that the men of Dijon justly regarded their city as its capital. There are, it seems, in this part of Europe inns to which Sunday pilgrimages are made by devotees of the kitchen, pilgrimages of from two or three hundred kilometers, and I had heard little names mentioned with great reverence—Belley, Virieu le Grand, Artamare, Bourg-en-Bresse.

I was not personally in search of exquisite meats. Indeed, I am frequently chaffed by my Paris friends for indifference in this respect. They take it in good part for a token of my American barbarism. He eats like a savage, they say, because he is hungry. However, I had promised them if ever I should come to Dijon to put up at the "Cloche d'Or"—which, it seems, for the European connoisseur of the table, is as sacred as Mecca.

Arriving at the hotel, I was shown casually to a double-bedded room and subsequently ushered with hushed and expected ceremony to the dinner table. There I was waited upon with the deference due to a traveler who has expressed a desire to dine well and to be guided correctly in his choice of food. I put myself in the hands of the maitre d'hotel, who, menu in hand, discoursed expressively of the dishes which he suggested and the wines which alone were worthy to accompany them.

I had arrived at an early hour, for I had started my day at cock-crow to enjoy the freshness of the morning, and I intended to catch the train which passed through Dijon at about 2 a. m. I was, therefore, proposing to retire to my room immediately after dinner in order to get some four or five hours sleep before the train arrived.

My plan, however, was not to be so easily fulfilled. I had finished dining—it was, I think, about eight o'clock—and was taking coffee when there appeared at the door a stranger, who, after looking carefully around the room, advanced slowly in my direction. I thought he was intending to take a table next to mine, which was disengaged, and I did not remark him particularly, except to note that he was a small, unobtrusive kind of a man, wearing a rather shabby overcoat with a velvet collar.

Suddenly, however, he came to a stand beside me, and, the next moment I found I was being greeted by a fellow countryman.

"Pardon me," he said "but you are an American?"

I replied that I was indeed an American, but forbore to add that I had passed the last ten years or more in Paris. He seemed relieved to find that I was indeed a patriot.

"In that case,' he said, "I hope you may be willing to render me a service which I should highly appreciate."

Screen Version of 'Ben Hur' Opens Three-Day Run Here

Gen. Lew Wallace's Story at Ceramic Theatre Tonight—Matinees Friday and Saturday.

The long awaited Metro-Goldwin-Mayer screen version of "Ben-Hur," which has been three years in the making opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Matinees will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday and Saturday afternoons.

For 45 years "Ben-Hur" has been a best-seller and is said to have reached a circulation as large as the Bible. The novel was first published in 1880 following five years of study and research by General Wallace.

New theatrical history was made in America when "Ben-Hur" was produced for the first time, November 29, 1899. This was the greatest stage achievement in America up to that time and it reached the zenith in mechanical supremacy in a stage production.

Millions of people who were opposed to the theatre were made drama-lovers through the presentation of "Ben-Hur." In the first season this classic was seen by half a million people and played an engagement of from thirty to forty weeks at the Broadway theatre, New York. The following year "Ben Hur" was produced in Boston, Chicago and London. As the reigning stage attraction of the time it played all the principal American cities for twenty-two seasons.

The coming of "Ben-Hur" was a widely heralded event in every large city throughout America. There were two chief theatrical events in American life then; one was the presentation of "Ben-Hur" and the other was the arrival of the Barnum and Bailey circus. It was necessary to tear up the stage in every theatre and opera house to install the treadmill for the eight horses working in the chariot scene which was the thrilling, dramatic climax in this drama. Special trains were running on all railroads to the city where "Ben-Hur" was playing. Countless editorials were written about "Ben-Hur," meetings held to discuss the play, and a fraternal order called "The Supreme Tribe of Ben-Hur" was started at Crawfordsville, Ind., which is still active today.

Ramon Novarro is seen in the title role in the film "Ben-Hur" which was directed in Italy and California by Fred Niblo. The supporting cast includes such popular players as May McAvoy, Carmel Myers, Betty Bronson, Francis X. Bushman, Kathleen Key, Frank Currier, Mitchell Lewis, Nigel de Brulier and Claire McDowell.

Screen Version of 'Ben Hur' Opens Three-Day Run Here

Gen. Lew Wallace's Story at Ceramic Theatre Tonight—Matinees Friday and Saturday.

The long awaited Metro-Goldwin-Mayer screen version of "Ben-Hur," which has been three years in the making opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Matinees will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday and Saturday afternoons.

For 45 years "Ben-Hur" has been a best-seller and is said to have reached a circulation as large as the Bible. The novel was first published in 1880 following five years of study and research by General Wallace.

New theatrical history was made in America when "Ben-Hur" was produced for the first time, November 29, 1899. This was the greatest stage achievement in America up to that time and it reached the zenith in mechanical supremacy in a stage production.

Millions of people who were opposed to the theatre were made drama-lovers through the presentation of "Ben-Hur." In the first season this classic was seen by half a million people and played an engagement of from thirty to forty weeks at the Broadway theatre, New York. The following year "Ben Hur" was produced in Boston, Chicago and London. As the reigning stage attraction of the time it played all the principal American cities for twenty-two seasons.

The coming of "Ben-Hur" was a widely heralded event in every large city throughout America. There were two chief theatrical events in American life then; one was the presentation of "Ben-Hur" and the other was the arrival of the Barnum and Bailey circus. It was necessary to tear up the stage in every theatre and opera house to install the treadmill for the eight horses working in the chariot scene which was the thrilling, dramatic climax in this drama. Special trains were running on all railroads to the city where "Ben-Hur" was playing. Countless editorials were written about "Ben-Hur," meetings held to discuss the play, and a fraternal order called "The Supreme Tribe of Ben-Hur" was started at Crawfordsville, Ind., which is still active today.

Ramon Novarro is seen in the title role in the film "Ben-Hur" which was directed in Italy and California by Fred Niblo. The supporting cast includes such popular players as May McAvoy, Carmel Myers, Betty Bronson, Francis X. Bushman, Kathleen Key, Frank Currier, Mitchell Lewis, Nigel de Brulier and Claire McDowell.

FISHER OPENS GAS STATION

Company Established on Harvey Avenue Site.

Formal opening of the new Fisher Gas and Oil company's filling station, Harvey avenue, near the Louthan Manufacturing company's plant, will take place on New Year's day.

The station, which will handle gasoline and oils for both the wholesale and retail trade, is owned by Albion B. Fisher. It is connected with a siding from the Pennsylvania railroad to facilitate the unloading of supplies.

The company will handle products of the Pennzoil company, headquarters of which are in Oil City, Pa. The Pennzoil company is the largest refiners of Pennsylvania crude oil in the state, having recently announced a program for 1927 which includes the erection of 13 new stills, enlargement of the storing facilities at their refineries and other improvements.

Nicaragua

Nicaragua had one government which the United States recognized. Now it has a rival government which the United States has not recognized but which Mexico has. So far, so good. We have a right to recognize any government which seems recognizable to us, and Mexico has the same right.

But the United States has landed marines "to protect American interests." All right. Certainly American interests must be protected. If Mexico sends in forces to protect Mexican interests—well, that seems all right, too, though it complicates the situation.

But just where to draw the line between protection and unwarranted interference is difficult. Doubly difficult when two countries are entering a third, each to protect its own citizens, and each recognizing a different government.

The line has got to be sharply drawn. Mexico is our next-door neighbor and we want no trouble with her. Nicaragua is Mexico's next-door neighbor, and she wants trouble neither with her nor us. Nicaragua is the place where we shall undoubtedly dig the next canal. The last thing on earth the United States wants is any outbreak of hostilities against us, there or farther south.

It is a situation that calls for prudence and foresight.

Married Women's Names

The National Woman's Party is fighting now for the right of all married women to use their maiden names in business and professional life and in travel.

Many do that now, particularly actresses and musicians. But in most cases such names have no legal sanction. For legal documents, and many other purposes of record, the married woman is required to use her husband's name.

Recently the feminists gained a victory in the state department, when they obtained a ruling allowing married women to use their maiden names on passports. Then they made a frontal attack on the registrar of copyrights, who denied the right of a wedded authoress to use her original name.

It does seem unjust when a woman cannot get copyrights for her own stories and poems except under her husband's name, when the husband hasn't anything to do with them. This looks like an extreme case. Yet any other arrangment, generally adopted, seems likely to cause social and business confusion and complicate the ownership and transfer of property.

It is hard to see how anything is gained by a woman refusing to follow the long-established custom of using her husband's name, especially when it is possible for her to make that name merely an appendage to her own. Thus Mary Adams marries John Jones, she can follow a growing custom and call herself Mrs. Mary Adams Jones, making the whole situation obvious without losing personal identity.

Dodging Our Hospitality

"Americans are friendly but primitive creatures," says George Bernard Shaw. "Literature is so wonderful to them that they will cross the ocean to see a man who has written a book. If I were to cross the ocean to gratify their hero worship, they would shake my hands off, daze me with uplift and kill me with kindness."

So Shaw has a better way. He has discovered how to be seen and heard by the American people without being entertained and mobbed to death. He will let this country see his face and hear his voice by means of the new phono-film, or speaking movie.

Science may soon put a still better device at his command, if promises of a radio "television" or "telephoto" apparatus are realized.

All foreign celebrities in time may learn to control their generous and curious impulses in the same way, and project their faces and voices to America instead of coming here in person. Think what Queen Marie would have saved herself from if she could have done that.

Preserving Beauty

Rural England, we are told, long famous for its beautiful countryside, has been suffering in recent years from "jerry builders." Oppressively ugly, cheap little houses have been built with great detriment to the landscape and little benefit to renters or owners.

Recently a Society for the Preservation of Rural England has been organized in London to combat the "jerry builders." Its efforts will be directed to demonstrating that inexpensive homes may be beautiful instead of ugly and that they may be well built instead of carelessly.

If the society achieves its purpose it will deserve commendation, but Americans who read of its work should not content themselves with saying what a fine thing that is for England. There are a few jerry builders here and there in this country and there are unnecessary bits of ugliness in some of our countryside as well as in our cities and their suburbs.

Happy is the land where the most urgent problem is how to reduce one's weight.

Our guess is that the next king of Roumania will be Marie.

A PLEA FOR THE INVALID.

The late Colonel W. C. P. Breckenridge, most famous of all Kentucky's orators in his generation, had a feud, in the latters years of his life, with a certain physician of the Blue Grass country. At one time the two men had been close friends, political and otherwise. Also they had been comrades together in the Confederate army. But the physician supported the opponent in Colonel Breckenridge's last race for reelection to congress from the famous Ashland district, and thereafter relations between them were strained.

The medical man was large and handsome and very dignified. He rather loved the limelight, too. He never missed a large public gathering, usually occupying a prominent place; but, curiously enough, before the meeting broke up, a person would come hot-foot to summon him to the bedside of some ailing individual. Base rumor had it that the call was not always a genuine one—that the messenger was employed to foster the impression that the doctor had an enormous practice.

Once Colonel Breckenridge was acting as chief counsel for the defense in a criminal case in a county adjoining the county where he lived. The trial had attracted wide-spread interest. On the day, when the summing-up speeches were to be made, the courtroom was packed with Kentuckians anxious to hear the feast of eloquence. Colonel Breckenridge had just begun his address when a citizen hurried in the word that Dr. ——— was needed immediately in a case of life and death. The physician arose from where he sat on a front bench and in a seeming great hurry began to shove his way through the jam toward the door.

If the silver tongued Breckenridge felt annoyance at having been interrupted in the opening phases of his oration, his face gave no hint of it. But, in his softest and silkiest tones he called out:

"Pray take your time, doctor, take your time! Give the patient a chance."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—No calling is so susceptible to flattery as that of the statge and screen. Talk to players about themselves and you win them. As a matter of fact it is difficult to engage them in conversation on any other topic.

Their lives are encompassed by an incessant longing for the spot. The analogy is not difficult to understand. Their careers depend solely on what people think and if they think well the players naturally want to hear it.

Writers, although I believe it is a trifle less pronounced, suffer similarly. They purr to compliments. In fact a certain hostess desiring several leading novelists to grace her dinner table included a line: "Be sure to come. We want to talk about you." All arrived with the hired butlers.

A great diva was recently guest of honor at a party. A guest who had arrived on a steamer that day to receive a sudden invitation was not aware of her identity and celebrity. He expressed an opinion that Melba was the greatest of them all.

The diva flamed red, withdrew from the table and stormed from the house. She had not come there to be insulted.

And there was that day that Sarah Bernhardt telephoned the man who played an important part in her American tour.

A brash pea-shooting office boy answered the phone. "This is Bernhart," said the great lady. The lad had been kidded by experts and replied in this startling manner: " 'Lo kid! How's the peg leg." It required heroic efforts to calm her. Her English was slight but she understood.

Despite the ballooning of the divine afflatus among folk of the stage and screen, they are not niggardly in bestowing praise upon their fellow players. Rarely do they "pan" a fellow artist. Which is after all something.

There is a New Yorker who has lived a cloistered life with only a few servants about him for many years. He confessed the other evening that after dinner he often crept below stairs to the servants quarters and stood behind a screen just to hear the clatter of lively conversation and laughter. Usually, he said, they were laughing at him but he enjoyed it just the same.

There are many venerable types of this sort in Manhattan. Widowed and retired, they cling to their old mansions, old servants and dreams of other days. Relatives die, children scatter and they are left alone. The monotony is broken by walks in Central Park and visits to the public library.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Immigration Law Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Records of the department of labor show that the immigration law is now being enforced more effectively than at any time since it was passed. Through building up of the coast and land border patrol and its resultant increased activities the wholesale smuggling of aliens has been puractically eliminated and organized smuggling kept within very narrow limits, says Secretary Davis. During the last fiscal year seizures valued at 0946,400 were made, and 5,580 persons were arrested. There were 331 smugglers arrested, with subsequent convictions in 100 cases.

Aliens to the number of 20,550 were debarred from entering the United States during the year, 17,563 being turned back at the international land boundaries, 15,808 from Canada and 1,775 from Mexico. The other 2,987 aliens who were not permitted to step foot within Uncle Sam's domain were rejected at the seaports and were for the most part sowaways and seamen seeking permanent admission without first obtaining visas from American consuls.

During the same period 10,904 aliens were deported from this country in addition to those excluded. This is the largest number ever deported in one year. This record was made despite the fact that for a three-month period the bureau of immigration activities in warrant proceedings were curtailed greatly as a result of the limited funds available until congress relieved the situation with a deficiency appropriation.

The deportees were sent to all parts of the world. Europe was sent 5,088, 2,588 went to Mexico, 2,102 to Canada and Newfoundland, 430 to Central and South Americas and the West Indies, 589 to Asia, and 107 to Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands. The aim of the department, it is stated, is to deport every alien whose departure the law requires. However, the effort is made to handle first the most urgent cases—those of aliens who have become public charges, having served terms in our jails and penitentiaries, and aliens who are insane or feeble-minded.

Much of Moral Turpitude.

Much was heard of the case of the titled English woman who was denied admission to the United States on the ground that she had been guilty of a crime involving moral turpitude—eloping and living with another woman's husband—but there seems to have been great deal of moral turpitude among people seeking admission to the United States last year, although the other cases did not become newspaper sensations. The board of review, out of 27,028 cases reviewed and decicions written during the year, passed upon 2,271 cases of the kind that are classed as crimes involving moral turpitude. In addition 1136 cases involving prostitution, immorality, and procuring were handled, and it would seem that there must have been a little turpitude in them.

The summary of the work of the board of review is interesting in its details. A total of 46,755 aliens were involved in all the cases it handled. Certain of the cases are listed as those "in which senators and congressmen were interested" and they add up to almost 3,000 in all. Actors to the number of 1,216 were either excluded or had to gain the board's approval of their entry. Thirty-four cases of anarchists, communists and members of the I. W. W. were passed up

On the other hand there are quite a few of the old boys, hey-hey, who attune themselves to a new age and turn gay. They move to a club, take a few dancing lessons and become familiars of the ring side seats. There is always youthful feminine companionship for spenders, no matter what age.

A number of the young bloods have returned from the Continent with slight tufts on their chins. In Bond street they are called imperials. Most of them are about half the size of a postage stamp. They suggest pistols for two at sunup, but somehow or other they don't seem romantic in one-armed lunch rooms.

A gentleman telephoned to a certain restaurant for a table reservation for nine people. His guests arrived a half hour late and he was told his table had been taken but he must pay an $18 cover charge. He insisted a bill be made out and receipted, which was done. He paid the tariff. And that was that. It so happened he was a joint owner of the building in which the restaurant was situated. A new lease was being made. The rent was tripled. There's vengeance with a vengeance.

The diva flamed red, withdrew from the table and stormed from the house. She had not come there to be insulted.

And there was that day that Sarah Bernhardt telephoned the man who played an important part in her American tour.

A brash pea-shooting office boy answered the phone. "This is Bernhart," said the great lady. The lad had been kidded by experts and replied in this startling manner: " 'Lo kid! How's the peg leg." It required heroic efforts to calm her. Her English was slight but she understood.

Despite the ballooning of the divine afflatus among folk of the stage and screen, they are not niggardly in bestowing praise upon their fellow players. Rarely do they "pan" a fellow artist. Which is after all something.

There is a New Yorker who has lived a cloistered life with only a few servants about him for many years. He confessed the other evening that after dinner he often crept below stairs to the servants quarters and stood behind a screen just to hear the clatter of lively conversation and laughter. Usually, he said, they were laughing at him but he enjoyed it just the same.

There are many venerable types of this sort in Manhattan. Widowed and retired, they cling to their old mansions, old servants and dreams of other days. Relatives die, children scatter and they are left alone. The monotony is broken by walks in Central Park and visits to the public library.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Immigration Law Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Records of the department of labor show that the immigration law is now being enforced more effectively than at any time since it was passed. Through building up of the coast and land border patrol and its resultant increased activities the wholesale smuggling of aliens has been puractically eliminated and organized smuggling kept within very narrow limits, says Secretary Davis. During the last fiscal year seizures valued at 0946,400 were made, and 5,580 persons were arrested. There were 331 smugglers arrested. with subsequent convictions in 109 cases.

Aliens to the number of 20,550 were debarred from entering the United States during the year, 17,563 being turned back at the international land boundaries, 15,808 from Canada and 1,775 from Mexico. The other 2,987 aliens who were not permitted to step foot within Uncle Sam's domain were rejected at the seaports and were for the most part sowaways and seamen seeking permanent admission without first obtaining visas from American consuls.

During the same period 10,904 aliens were deported from this country in addition to those excluded. This is the largest number ever deported in one year. This record was made despite the fact that for a three-month period the bureau of immigration activities in warrant proceedings were curtailed greatly as a result of the limited funds available until congress relieved the situation with a deficiency appropriation.

The deportees were sent to all parts of the world. Europe was sent 5,088, 2,588 went to Mexico, 2,102 to Canada and Newfoundland, 430 to Central and South Americas and the West Indies, 589 to Asia, and 107 to Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands. The aim of the department, it is stated, is to deport every alien whose departure the law requires. However, the effort is made to handle first the most urgent cases—those of aliens who have become public charges, having served terms in our jails and penitentiaries, and aliens who are insane or feeble-minded.

Much of Moral Turpitude.

Much was heard of the case of the titled English woman who was denied admission to the United States on the ground that she had been guilty of a crime involving moral turpitude—eloping and living with another woman's husband—but there seems to have been great deal of moral turpitude among people seeking admission to the United States last year, although the other cases did not become newspaper sensations. The board of review, out of 27,028 cases reviewed and decicions written during the year, passed upon 2,271 cases of the kind that are classed as crimes involving moral turpitude. In addition 1136 cases involving prostitution, immorality, and procuring were handled, and it would seem that there must have been a little turpitude in them.

The summary of the work of the board of review is interesting in its details. A total of 46,755 aliens were involved in all the cases it handled. Certain of the cases are listed as those "in which senators and congressmen were interested" and they add up to almost 3,000 in all. Actors to the number of 1,216 were either excluded or had to gain the board's approval of their entry. Thirty-four cases of anarchists, communists and members of the I. W. W. were passed up-

On the other hand there are quite a few of the old boys, hey-hey, who attune themselves to a new age and turn gay. They move to a club, take a few dancing lessons and become familiars of the ring side seats. There is always youthful feminine companionship for spenders, no matter what age.

A number of the young bloods have returned from the Continent with slight tufts on their chins. In Bond street they are called imperials. Most of them are about half the size of a postage stamp. They suggest pistols for two at sunup, but somehow or other they don't seem romantic in one-armed lunch rooms.

A gentleman telephoned to a certain restaurant for a table reservation for nine people. His guests arrived a half hour late and he was told his table had been taken but he must pay an $18 cover charge. He insisted a bill be made out and receipted, which was done. He paid the tariff. And that was that. It so happened he was a joint owner of the building in which the restaurant was situated. A new lease was being made. The rent was tripled. There's vengeance with a vengeance.

MRS. JACKSON, AGED 71, DIES

Lifelong Resident of County Succumbs at Pughtown.

Mrs. Amanda Jackson, 71 years old, widow of Dales Jackson, lifelong resident of Hancock county, died yesterday in her home at Pughtown, after a long illness of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Jackson, who was born in the vicinity of Pughtown, is survived by one son, Charles, of Florida, and one daughter, Mrs. Ida Flowers with whom she made her home. She is also survived by one brother, Sherman Huff and one sister, the latter residing in Chester.

She was a member of the Pughtown Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Pughtown Presbyterian church, in charge of Rev. J. F. Cowlings. Burial will be made in Union cemetery, Pughtown.

MRS. MARY WEBB, 71, DIES HERE

Mrs. Mary Webb, 71 years, widow of Joseph Webb, died last night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John A. Davis, Florida avenue, after a six weeks' illness.

Mrs. Webb, who formerly resided in East Liverpool, is survived in addition to Mrs. Davis by one son and eight daughters: Wilfred Webb, East Liverpool; Mrs. Robert Deitz, Mrs. Thomas Snape, Mrs. George Bloor, Mrs. Vincent McGeehan, Mrs. Davis Buzzard, Thelma Webb, all of East Liverpool; Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. Florence Richardson, Chester.

MISSION SOCIETY TO HOLD MEETING

Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet this evening with Mrs. Lewis Devitt at her home in Indiana avenue.

Devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. Bartley. Mrs. Allison will have as her subject, "Present Day Mormonism," while "Moslem Women and Children," will be the topic of Mrs. Newell. Reponse to roll call will be: "Christmas Thoughts."

THREE MEN HELD IN THEFT CASE

Jack Carissimi, Tony Pariott and Joe Presty, arrested in connection with the attempted robbery of guests at the Nick DeFabbia residence at Wellsburg last Sunday night, were given a hearing before Squire A. B. Collett and bound over to the March sitting of the Brooke county grand jury.

Presty, who was arrested at the home of Jack Carissimi, had his bond set at $500 and hopes to secure his release from the county jail soon. The other two, however, have been required to raise $2 000 each and probably will remain in the county prison at least until after the grand jury investigates their case.

The authorities are now looking for two more men, believed to have been implicated in the unsuccessful bit of banditry. All those now in the hands of the Brooke county sheriff are from Follansbee.

SPEAKERS NAMED FOR PRAYER WEEK

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, announced today that meetings in observance of the "Week of Prayer" would be held three nights next week in the church.

Rev. Thomas G. Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville, will preach on Wednesday night, while the sermon Thursday evening will be delivered by Rev. W. E. A. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, East Liverpool. The closing service will be held Friday night when the sermon will be given by Rev. L. J. Davison pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, East Liverpool.

WORK SUSPENDED ON COUNTY ROADS

Thomas L. Donovan, junior engineer of the West Virginia state highway department is in receipt of orders from the state department of Parkersburg to suspend further construction work on the highways in and around Weirton that have been under construction for the past several months.

The Pittsburgh pike has been completed as far as possible this year, and is now being used for travel. The road is a fine one as far as Paris, Pa., where the road again is in bad condition. The shoulder and drains of this road have not been completed and are not likely to be before Spring, when additional road construction work by the state will be commenced in this vicinity.

It is the plan of the state highway department to connect roads leading from Weirton and Holliday's Cove to the Lincoln, William Penn and Pennsylvania highways, thus giving the state good highways from Charleston to Pennsylvania.

SPECIAL MEETS SCHEDULED HERE

Evangelistic services to continue for two weeks will begin in the First Christian church on Sunday, January 9, according to an announcement made today by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Sims.

The meetings will be in charge of Rev. C. E. Rostofer, former pastor of the church.

RUDDERLESS BRITISH CRAFT IS DRIFTING

Freighter Clearton Reports There is No Danger.

40 MEN ABOARD

Immediate Assistance Not Required Unless Storm Breaks.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The British freighter Clearton, drifting without a rudder at a point about 500 miles east of New York, is in no immediate danger, her captain wirelessed the Independent Wireless company today. The captain's message stated that he would ask the first vessel sighted to tow the Clearton to port, but would not require immediate assistance unless a storm breaks suddenly.

Several ships which were on their way this morning to aid the freighter, probably will find that their services will not be wanted. The captain of the North German liner Berlin wirelessed to Captain Hickman of the Clearton that he would reach the Clearton about noon today and take off her crew of 40, only to be informed that the Clearton would wait for another freighter that could tow her to port.

All broadcasting here was halted temporarily when the freighter's "S. O. S." call was received late last night.

The Clearton, owned by R. Chapman and Sons, left Baltimore on Dec. 26 for Queenstown, Ireland. She is a vessel of some 5,000 gross tonnage.

©BY LITTLE, BROWN AND CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N

I said I should be delighted, and he went on to explain. It seemed that I had just engaged the last available room in the hotel. As it was a double room, he would venture to ask whether I would share it with him.

I warned him that I should be rising in the middle of the night to catch the Geneva express, a proceeding which could hardly fail to disturb his rest. He brushed this aside, however, saying that he too would probably be catching the same train.

I am never sorry to have a chance of mixing with a fellow countryman.

I am from the South—"the land of cotton, cinnamon trees and sandy bottom"—and my grandfather served under Lee till he fell at Gettysburg—facts of which I continue to be proud. Since the age of twenty-one, however, when I entered the American and Overseas Bank, my work has kept me continuously abroad, and my only contact with my native soil has been the chance travelers from the States, who help me to be vicariously at home.

I accordingly assented to the stranger's proposal, inviting him at the same time to order his dinner at my table if he happened to be in need of company.

He sat down at once, ordering to the disgust of the maitre d'hotel, a plate of eggs and bacon, with strong coffee.

While he was waiting to be served, I took more careful stock of him. He had a small sallow face with an indeterminate mustache and wore a pair of large tortoise-shell spectacles, which concealed the color and appearance of his eyes. He seemed a weak, undistinguished kind of man—the sort one would take for a clark in a department store, except for his chin, which was firm and well molded and accorded strangely with the straggling hairs upon his upper lip.

He was sociable enough, quite voluble in fact, and very deft and quick in his movements. He informed me that he was a schoolmaster in some small township of the Middle West, the name of which I have forgotten, and that having lately acquired a traveling scholarship from a university in California, he was touring Europe in the hope of attaining what was evidently his supreme ambition—a junior professorship. Teaching the young, he naively informed me, got on his nerves, and indeed it was not difficult to imagine the kind of liberties a clasg of sturdy fourteen-year-olds might be expected to take with him.

All this information he imparted with a curious suggestion that his thoughts and attention were elsewhere. I noticed that he looked frequently toward the door, scrutinizing every one who entered, and that he came particularly to attention whenever he heard an automobile passing or arriving at the hotel. It reminded me rather of a hound suddenly aware of strange footsteps.

He was telling me some story, rather pointless and with his mind clearly bent on other matters, when some new arrivals came into the dining room. We had heard them drive up under the windows of the hotel, and my companion was closely watching the door when they entered. I had my back to the persons who came in, and I was aware of them at first only by the effect they had on the little schoolmaster.

I slightly altered my position and looked towards the door. An ungracefully fat man, who even from a distance was remarkably ugly and dressed in clothes only the flashiest of Paris tailors could achieve, was handing a lady's wrap to a chauffeur in uniform.

AUTO OWNERS, GET LICENSES!

Police Warn Arrests Will be Made on New Year's Day.

Owners of automobiles which leave garages on New Year's day without displaying 1927 automobile license plates, will be subject to arrest, Chief of Police McDermott warned today in urging motorists to apply for the new plates at once.

"I have received no word from Columbus authorizing a time extension for the 1926 licenses and motorists who appear on the streets after Friday with old license plates will be liable to arrest and a fine," McDermott said. "There is no excuse for drivers not having their new license plates as they have been on sale for more than two weeks."

J. S. Hilbert, deputy automobile commissioner, has issued approximately 900 sets of plates. Of this number 750 pairs are for pleasure cars, 130 for trucks and about 20 of the pleasure-commercial kind. There are in East Liverpool and the immediate vicinity, according to Hilbert's estimate, about 6,000 automobiles.

For the convenience of motorists, who have delayed applying for 1927 tags in the hope that a time extension would be granted, Hilbert will keep his office in Washington street open between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock tonight and also tomorrow night. Tomorrow will be the last opportunity to obtain licenses before the time limit expires.

Hilbert again called attention of automobile owners to the state automobile license law, which requires the showing of the recorded bill of sale or sworn statement of ownership when application is made for the license. The serial number on this statement affixed by the county recorder is a part of the automobile license record.

J. C. B. Beatty Case Will be Heard by City Court Jury

For the first time since the establishment of the municipal court a year ago, a jury of 12 persons will hea evidence in a criminal action when the case of J. C. B. Beatty, pottery jobber, charged with being drunk and disorderly, is called for a hearing before Judge J. C. Hanley at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Because of the absence from the city of Judge Hanley, prospective jurors will not be drawn until Friday morning. Beatty has filed the names of 12 witnesses. He will be represented by Attorney George T. Farrell, Lisbon, and Ben L. Bennett, while Solicitor Frank Hoover will prosecute the charge.

Beatty was arrested by Patrolman James Haley in the Larkins restaurant on Christmas eve, upon complaint of James T. Larkins. He was committed to jail and released on his own recognizance Christmas morning.

Effective January 1 formula No. 5, for completely denatured alcohol, will be altered to contain four instead of two per cent wood alcohol.

Chemists at the treasury today disclosed what people get when they drink industrial alcohol.

One particular formula apparently wins the prize as the basis for a general utility drink. It contains oil of lavander to perfume the drinkers, oil of citronella to keep away mosquitos, oil of sassafras to cure colds, camphor to mitigate headaches, quinine for fever, and oil of cloves to heat up ones insides.

Experts refused to speculate the effect of the use of this product as a beverage though it was described as "probably potent."

Another more deadly denaturing formula includes 2½ gallons of formaldehyde and 40 ounces of menthol to each 100 gallons of alcohol.

Other denaturing elements include extract of arnica flowers, diethylphthalate, fluid extract of ipecac, hard and soft soap, benzol, gasoline, wood alcohol, pryridine, sulphuric ether, sulphuric acid and chloroform.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

For Bladder Relief Is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 824 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio, says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used lithiated buchu (Keller Formula.) She would have to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at J. D. Holloway's, Druggist.

MOSCOW, Dec. 30.—Twenty persons were killed in a fire which destroyed government flour mills at Rybinsk, according to word from that city today.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Neither the industrial nor the railroad stocks were able to retain all the ground gained in Wednesday's final spurt, after displaying considerable strength at the opening today, the industrial stocks were forced downward by the renewal of the selling pressure which has been in evidence most of the week. Oil companies with Mexican properties displayed some unsettlement as a result of President Calles' refusal to postpone the operation of the new petroleum law.

As in the previous sessions of the week, the market slowed up at the lower price levels, and the volume of stock offered at the bottom of the declines was comparatively small. U. S. Steel and General Motors lost a point each, while high priced specialties, after declining about 2 points, refused to give further ground.

The recovery in cotton and other commodities was resumed at the opening of the markets, and demand was in almost every case equal to the supply. The call loan general rate was unchanged at 5½ per cent, and the prospects for a year-end squeeze in the money market appeared remote. President Calles, ultimatum to the oil companies holding Mexican property appeared to be more menacing than was generally believed, which imposed a new handicap to the rise in oil stocks.

OHIO DRY LID CLAMPED DOWN FOR NEW YEAR'S

Federal and State Prohibition Aides Perfect Plans.

AGENTS ON JOB

Seek Police Co-operation to Prevent Advent of Wet 1927.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30—Festivities in Ohio on New Year's eve will be "dry" regardless of weather conditions, if plans of federal and state prohibition enforcement officials in the Buckeye state are consummated.

Federal Prohibition Director W. H. Walker and State Prohibition commissioner B. F. McDonald today were perfecting plans for strict observance of dry laws in this state on New Year's eve—so far as it is possible for their respective field forces to bring such a situation about.

Both director Walker and commissioner McDonald announced that they will not issue any special instructions, or orders, dealing with law enforcement New Year's eve.

They asserted, however, that all possible effort will be made to prevent violations of dry laws that night. Their inspectors, they said, will be assigned to duty New Year's eve at points where, it is believed, they can perform the best service.

Special attention will be given, it was announced, to places where celebrations last New Year's were responsible for complaints alleging drunkenness and other unlawful conduct.

Law enforcement officers frankly admitted that their limited field forces prevent them from adequately coping with the situation. Director Walker has about 75 men in the field and Commissioner McDonald 30.

In most instances, it was pointed out, it will be up to the police and other local law enforcement officials to see that the "dry" lid is kept clamped on tight on New Year's eve.

Two Men Killed, Four Injured in Towanda, Pa., Wreck

TOWANDA, Pa., Dec. 30.—Two men were killed and four others were injured when a train was wrecked on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Rummerfield today, it was reported here.

Details of the wreck were lacking. Railroad officials requested that doctors and nurses from here be rushed to the scene.

Dr. Bailey testifies that there were no powder marks on the clothing, that the gun must have been some two and one-half or three feet from the body of MsLain at the time it was discharged, and it must have been held in this position practically back of McLain in order that the ball could penetrate as it did."

STOPS COUGHING—VERY QUICKLY EFFECTIVE

Here is the basic reason why, without opiates or chloroform, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs so quickly and heals the distressing cause. Because it combines the curative virtues of pure Pine Tar and other healing ingredients, together with the mollifying demulcent effect of clear fresh Honey—a valuable combination. Coughs and throat irritations, bronchial and "flu" coughs, croup (spasmodic) and troublesome night coughs are quickly controlled by Foley's Honey and Tar. The name tells the story. Ask for it. $250,000 HAUL BY CRIMINALS IN LONDON JOB

Harrods Department Store Looted of Jewelry.

ROBBERS ESCAPE

Thousands of Articles Carefully Packed by Thieves.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Thieves early today carried out one of the biggest hauls in British criminal annals when they raided Harrods department store, getting away with jewelry estimated to be worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Despite the fact that Harrods is in the heart of the city, being located at Knightsbridge, the thieves apparently were able to elude the watchmen and work all night collecting their loot.

Every show-case in the jewelry department of the huge store was ransacked and there are indications that the thieves left the store with their loot in a taxi-cab about 5 o'clock this morning.

Enough loot was taken from the store to furnish a well stocked jewelry store. Thousands of articles were apparently carefully packed away by the thieves for transportation, including watches, gold and silver cigarette cases, brooches, rings and bracelets.

The more expensive jewelry had been locked in the store safe and was not taken by the thieves who seemed to content themselves with a huge haul of lesser valuables.

Scotland Yard has given order that a watch be kept on all ports, as it is believed that the thieves will seek to reach the continent, not daring to try to dispose of their haul in England.

RUDDERLESS BRITISH CRAFT IS DRIFTING

Freighter Clearton Reports There is No Danger.

40 MEN ABOARD

Immediate Assistance Not Required Unless Storm Breaks.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The British freighter Clearton, drifting without a rudder at a point about 500 miles east of New York, is in no immediate danger, her captain wirelessed the Independent Wireless company today. The captain's message stated that he would ask the first vessel sighted to tow the Clearton to port, but would not require immediate assistance unless a storm breaks suddenly.

Several ships which were on their way this morning to aid the freighter, probably will find that their services will not be wanted. The captain of the North German liner Berlin wirelessed to Captain Hickman of the Clearton that he would reach the Clearton about noon today and take off her crew of 40, only to be informed that the Clearton would wait for another freighter that could tow her to port.

All broadcasting here was halted temporarily when the freighter's "S. O. S." call was received late last night.

The Clearton, owned by R. Chapman and Sons, left Baltimore on Dec. 26 for Queenstown, Ireland. She is a vessel of some 5,000 gross tonnage.

AUTO OWNERS, GET LICENSES!

Police Warn Arrests Will be Made on New Year's Day.

Owners of automobiles which leave garages on New Year's day without displaying 1927 automobile license plates, will be subject to arrest, Chief of Police McDermott warned today in urging motorists to apply for the new plates at once.

"I have received no word from Columbus authorizing a time extension for the 1926 licenses and motorists who appear on the streets after Friday with old license plates will be liable to arrest and a fine," McDermott said. "There is no excuse for drivers not having their new license plates as they have been on sale for more than two weeks."

J. S. Hilbert, deputy automobile commissioner, has issued approximately 900 sets of plates. Of this number 750 pairs are for pleasure cars, 130 for trucks and about 20 of the pleasure-commercial kind. There are in East Liverpool and the immediate vicinity, according to Hilbert's estimate, about 6,000 automobiles.

For the convenience of motorists, who have delayed applying for 1927 tags in the hope that a time extension would be granted, Hilbert will keep his office in Washington street open between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock tonight and also tomorrow night. Tomorrow will be the last opportunity to obtain licenses before the time limit expires.

Hilbert again called attention of automobile owners to the state automobile license law, which requires the showing of the recorded bill of sale or sworn statement of ownership when application is made for the license. The serial number on this statement affixed by the county recorder is a part of the automobile license record.

I said I should be delighted, and he went on to explain. It seemed that I had just engaged the last available room in the hotel. As it was a double room, he would venture to ask whether I would share it with him.

I warned him that I should be rising in the middle of the night to catch the Geneva express, a proceeding which could hardly fail to disturb his rest. He brushed this aside, however, saying that he too would probably be catching the same train.

I am never sorry to have a chance of mixing with a fellow countryman.

I am from the South—"the land of cotton, cinnamon trees and sandy bottom"—and my grandfather served under Lee till he fell at Gettysburg—facts of which I continue to be proud. Since the age of twenty-one, however, when I entered the American and Overseas Bank, my work has kept me continuously abroad, and my only contact with my native soil has been the chance travelers from the States, who help me to be vicariously at home.

I accordingly assented to the stranger's proposal, inviting him at the same time to order his dinner at my table if he happened to be in need of company.

He sat down at once, ordering to the disgust of the maitre d'hotel, a plate of eggs and bacon, with strong coffee.

While he was waiting to be served, I took more careful stock of him. He had a small sallow face with an indeterminate mustache and wore a pair of large tortoise-shell spectacles, which concealed the color and appearance of his eyes. He seemed a weak, undistinguished kind of man—the sort one would take for a clark in a department store, except for his chin, which was firm and well molded and accorded strangely with the straggling hairs upon his upper lip.

He was sociable enough, quite voluble in fact, and very deft and quick in his movements. He informed me that he was a schoolmaster in some small township of the Middle West, the name of which I have forgotten, and that having lately acquired a traveling scholarship from a university in California, he was touring Europe in the hope of attaining what was evidently his supreme ambition—a junior professorship. Teaching the young, he naively informed me, got on his nerves, and indeed it was not difficult to imagine the kind of liberties a class of sturdy fourteen-year-olds might be expected to take with him.

All this information he imparted with a curious suggestion that his thoughts and attention were elsewhere. I noticed that he looked frequently toward the door, scrutinizing every one who entered, and that he came particularly to attention whenever he heard an automobile passing or arriving at the hotel. It reminded me rather of a hound suddenly aware of strange footsteps.

He was telling me some story, rather pointless and with his mind clearly bent on other matters, when some new arrivals came into the dining room. We had heard them drive up under the windows of the hotel, and my companion was closely watching the door when they entered. I had my back to the persons who came in, and I was aware of them at first only by the effect they had on the little schoolmaster.

I slightly altered my position and looked towards the door. An ungracefully fat man, who even from a distance was remarkably ugly and dressed in clothes only the flashiest of Paris tailors could achieve, was handing a lady's wrap to a chauffeur in uniform.

J. C. B. Beatty Case Will be Heard by City Court Jury

For the first time since the establishment of the municipal court a year ago, a jury of 12 persons will hea evidence in a criminal action when the case of J. C. B. Beatty, pottery jobber, charged with being drunk and disorderly, is called for a hearing before Judge J. C. Hanley at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Because of the absence from the city of Judge Hanley, prospective jurors will not be drawn until Friday morning. Beatty has filed the names of 12 witnesses. He will be represented by Attorney George T. Farrell, Lisbon, and Ben L. Bennett, while Solicitor Frank Hoover will prosecute the charge.

Beatty was arrested by Patrolman James Haley in the Larkins restaurant on Christmas eve, upon complaint of James T. Larkins. He was committed to jail and released on his own recognizance Christmas morning.

Effective January 1 formula No. 5, for completely denatured alcohol, will be altered to contain four instead of two per cent wood alcohol.

Chemists at the treasury today disclosed what people get when they drink industrial alcohol.

One particular formula apparently wins the prize as the basis for a general utility drink. It contains oil of lavander to perfume the drinkers, oil of citronella to keep away mosquitos, oil of sassafras to cure colds, camphor to mitigate headaches, quinine for fever, and oil of cloves to heat up ones insides.

Experts refused to speculate the effect of the use of this product as a beverage though it was described as "probably potent."

Another more deadly denaturing formula includes 2½ gallons of formaldehyde and 40 ounces of menthol to each 100 gallons of alcohol.

Other denaturing elements include extract of arnica flowers, diethylphthalate, fluid extract of ipecac, hard and soft soap, benzol, gasoline, wood alcohol, pryridine, sulphuric ether, sulphuric acid and chloroform.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Neither the industrial nor the railroad stocks were able to retain all the ground gained in Wednesday's final spurt, after displaying considerable strength at the opening today, the industrial stocks were forced downward by the renewal of the selling pressure which has been in evidence most of the week. Oil companies with Mexican properties displayed some unsettlement as a result of President Calles' refusal to postpone the operation of the new petroleum law.

As in the previous sessions of the week, the market slowed up at the lower price levels, and the volume of stock offered at the bottom of the declines was comparatively small. U. S. Steel and General Motors lost a point each, while high priced specialties, after declining about 2 points, refused to give further ground.

The recovery in cotton and other commodities was resumed at the opening of the markets, and demand was in almost every case equal to the supply. The call loan general rate was unchanged at 5½ per cent, and the prospects for a year-end squeeze in the money market appeared remote. President Calles, ultimatum to the oil companies holding Mexican property appeared to be more menacing than was generally believed, which imposed a new handicap to the rise in oil stocks.

Dr. Bailey testifies that there were no powder marks on the clothing, that the gun must have been some two and one-half or three feet from the body of MsLain at the time it was discharged, and it must have been held in this position practically back of McLain in order that the bail could penetrate as it did."

STOPS COUGHING—VERY QUICKLY EFFECTIVE

Here is the basic reason why, without opiates or chloroform, Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops coughs so quickly and heals the distressing cause. Because it combines the curative virtues of pure Pine Tar and other healing ingredients, together with the mollifying demulcent effect of clear fresh Honey—a valuable combination. Coughs and throat irritations, bronchial and "flu" coughs, croup (spasmodic) and troublesome night coughs are quickly controlled by Foley's Honey and Tar. The name tells the story. Ask for it. $250,000 HAUL BY CRIMINALS IN LONDON JOB

Harrods Department Store Looted of Jewelry.

ROBBERS ESCAPE

Thousands of Articles Carefully Packed by Thieves.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Thieves early today carried out one of the biggest hauls in British criminal annals when they raided Harrods department store, getting away with jewelry estimated to be worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Despite the fact that Harrods is in the heart of the city, being located at Knightsbridge, the thieves apparently were able to elude the watchmen and work all night collecting their loot.

Every show-case in the jewelry department of the huge store was ransacked and there are indications that the thieves left the store with their loot in a taxi-cab about 5 o'clock this morning.

Enough loot was taken from the store to furnish a well stocked jewelry store. Thousands of articles were apparently carefully packed away by the thieves for transportation, including watches, gold and silver cigarette cases, brooches, rings and bracelets.

The more expensive jewelry had been locked in the store safe and was not taken by the thieves who seemed to content themselves with a huge haul of lesser valuables.

Scotland Yard has given order that a watch be kept on all ports, as it is believed that the thieves will seek to reach the continent, not daring to try to dispose of their haul in England.

WELLSVILLE PASTOR SUES FOR LOSS OF SERMONS

16 LEE CHAPEL PARISHIONERS NAMED IN CASE

Rev. A. R. Johnson, Now at Donora, Pa., Files Action.

$1,200 IS ASKED

Alleges Linen, Bedding and Dinnerware Were Carried Away.

A series of sermons prepared by the Rev. A. R. Johnson, pastor of Lee's Chapel, African Methodist Episcopal church at Wellsville, and valued at $500, have been "appropriated" and carried away, together with other property of the minister, according to a petition filed in common pleas court today by Attorneys G. Jay Clark and P. V. Mackall, of East Liverpool, counsel for the clergyman, against 16 parishioners. He asks $1,200 damages.

Named as defendants are the following persons:

Solomon Winslow, Emmons Payne, John Beshon, Thornton Lewis, M. T. Smith, Ella Payne, George Payne, Richard Carter, Pauline Scott, Luella Scott, Henry Williams, Christine Schenkle, Cynthia Spires, Rev. Brown, Mrs. Soloman Winslow and Ralph Winslow.

The petition relates that the plaintiff is a duly ordained minister of the gospel, and is the accredited pastor of the Wellsville congregation. It is alleged that on Dec. 6, last and at other times, dwelling of the plaintiff located at, 305 Fourteenth street Wellsville was entered.

It is charged that the prepared sermons of the minister, as well as linen and bedding, valued at $100, and china and dinnerware, worth $100, were carried away, and furniture valued at $500 was destroyed.

Rev. Mr. Johnson, the pastor, was recently transferred to Donora, Pa.

REVIVAL MEETS TO START JAN. 9

Series of special revival services will be launched on Sunday, January 9, in the First Christian church, according to announcement by Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor.

Rev. Lee will preach at all of the services, and will be assisted in the revivals by Mrs. Lee, who will be in charge of the music. Special programs will be arranged for each night.

J. S. Spring and Miss Mildred Armstrong will assist Mrs. Lee in the musical programs.

RAILROAD AID IS PROMISED

Whiter to Help Operations Here Whenever Possible.

Promising to intercede for the interests of the city whenever possible, E. T. Whiter, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has promised to relieve conditions, caused by the transfer of a hundred or more Pennsylvania railroad employes to other points, as much as possible in the future.

If it is possible to locate railroad operations of any kind to take the place of those eliminated here, every effort will be made to consider Wellsville, Whiter promised a delegation of local men, including F. E. Wells, C. W. Arnold and M. T. Abbott in a recent conference in Pittsburgh.

MRS. JAY LYONS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Jay Lyons will be hostess to members of the Thursday Bridge club, of East Liverpool, this afternoon at a 1 o'clock dinner bridge party at Maple Villa.

Mrs. C. W. Arnold, Mrs. Martin T. Abbott and Mrs. J. G. Paisley, of this city, will be guests.

Canada's new chain of twenty-two department stores will favor Canadian goods, but will handle those from all countries.

AUTO OWNERS ADVISED TO GET NEW LICENSES

Only 400 Issued to Date, Says Local Deputy.

EXPECT 1,500

Last Minute Rush Looms as Result of Delay.

C. W. Arnold, Wellsville's deputy automobile commissioner for the registration of motor vehicles, today was anticipating a last-minute rush, and consequently, delays for the auto owner, as a result of the general apathy, he says, of the local car owners toward obtaining their 1927 licenses.

Up until today 400 sets of plates have been issued in the city, covering both pleasure cars and trucks.

It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 1,500 licenses should be disposed of here.

Arnold has several assistants on duty in his office in Main street, but up until the present time, he announces, they have not been kept busy as a result of motorists' delay in applying for their tags.

He warned owners today to get in early and eliminate the last-minute rush.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Vere Hanley and children, of Cleveland Heights, are spending the holidays with Mrs. Hanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George White, Nevada street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mason, of Cleveland, returned home today after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Fassett, Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hibbins, of the Lisbon road, have concluded a visit with relatives in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Attorney and Mrs. F. A. Irvine, of Rocky River, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Burris, of Lisbon road.

Miss Elsie Berg, Tenth and Center street, has concluded a visit in Cleveland.

Mrs. Joseph R. Johnson, of Cleveland, is visiting with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frischkorn, of Fifteenth street, have concluded a visit in Cleveland.

Former Beaver, Pa., Residents Honored At Dinner Bridge

Mrs. Ralph Morton entertained a number of friends at a dinner-bridge party last evening at her home in the Whitacre apartments here, the affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. Allen Krotzer, who recently moved here from Beaver, Pa.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, the hostess being assisted by her mother, Mrs. E. G. Whitacre, and Mrs. Harvey Whitacre, places being arranged for 32 guests.

Eight tables of bridge were in play following dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. M. D. McCutcheon, and Miss Gertrude Hobbs, of East Liverpool, were guests.

WATCH NIGHT PLANS COMPLETE

Special Services Friday at Christian Church.

Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor of the First Christian church, today announced completion of plans for the "watch night" services which will be held on Friday night in the church parlors.

A varied program of games, talks, and exercises will precede the devotionals.

At the close of the social program, refreshment will be served.

At midnight, the congregation will assemble in the main auditorium of the church for communion observance to usher in the new year.

COUNTY COURT LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT

Nash Motors to Oppose East Liverpool Elks.

LOSE TO LISBON

Drop Close 33-27 Decision to County Seat Five.

Wellsville Nash Motors remain at the bottom of the ladder in the Columbiana County Amateur basketball league race as a result of their defeat last night by Lisbon on the county seat court.

The score, like so many others in which the locals have been beaten, was 33 to 27, giving the Lisbonites, who hitherto have failed to win a game of their three starts, a six-point victory.

With a number of new men in action, the Motors showed a vast improvement in their performance last night, although lacking in team work as a result of insufficient practice workouts together.

The Motors, undaunted by their consecutive losses however, are preparing for another tough battle here tonight with the East Liverpool Elks, now rated as one of the leading contenders for the pennant as a result of their showing in recent games.

The Elks, with a team hastily scrapped together, dropped their first two games, but came back in the third and knocked off Columbiana, one of the reputed strong teams of the circuit. They then stopped Lisbon by a 42 to 20 decision recently at East Liverpool.

Kenneth Clark, former Ohio State player; Carl Wilson, ex-high; Nile Wain, Mt. Union; Ray Wilde, Geneva college; Smith Anderson, Princeton: Charles McConville, ex-high; Joe Canne, a "sandlotter;" Loren Howard, ex-church league star, and others will be seen in action with the visitors.

Manager George Davis of the local team expects to complete arrangements this afternoon for a playing floor, either at the high school or the Methodist Episcopal church. The game will start at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary, beginning at 7:15.

Miss Flora Jenkins, teacher in Bedford public schools, is spending her vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Jenkins.

Samuel Dobson is visiting with friends in East Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maple and family, of Kensington, have returned home after a visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown, and his mother, Mrs. Frances Maple.

Mrs. Samuel Dobson and daughter, Doris, are visiting her sister in Steubenville this week.

James Black, of Lima, is visiting his parents, Attorney and Mrs. E. E. Black.

Richard Gilson is suffering from an attack of la grippe.

Mrs. Emma Cavanaugh is visiting her niece, Mrs. H. C. Jewett, at Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce James were Pittsburgh business visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goddard and daughter, Doris, of Niles, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Loch and Mr. and Mrs. Jason Goddard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McBane have returned home after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. William McIntosh, in Canton.

Mrs. Anna Sapp and Miss Grace Orr, of Salem, have returned home after a visit with their sister, Mrs. S. A. Hart, in Main street.

Misses Gertrude and Edith McGillivray, of Cleveland, returned after a visit with their mother, Mrs. Jack McGillivray, and sister, Mrs. H. B. Haverfield, in this place.

Mrs. D. H. Beaumont Is Bridge Hostess At Maple Villa

Mrs. D. H. Beaumont, of Main street, entertained a number of friends from Toronto and Steubenville last evening at Maple Villa.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, places being laid for 24 guests. Six tables of bridge were in play.

Haskin's Letter

on; alien contract labor cases numbered 9697; illiterates, 1,292; idiots, imbeciles and mentally deficient, 126; insane, 1,436; aliens arriving without funds, 3,298; physical defective, 1,009; and there were 509 cases of aliens who attempted re-entry within one year of having been deported.

Cases of surreptitious entry—stowaways, and those who had passed no inspection and had neither passport nor visa—numbered 12,829. Also there were 2,392 Chinese who had to get by the board and 394 Japanese.

There were decisions in 2,168 cases in which steamship companies were charged with bringing inadmissible aliens to our ports, and the fines assessed aggregated $644,540.

During the year almost half a million aliens were admitted to this country, while 227,755 departed, the resulting net increase in the alien population of the United States being 268,351. Of the immigrants admitted, 157,432 came from the countries that have limited quotas, while 150,290 were natives of non-quota countries, principally Canada and Mexico. Foreigners coming temporarily for business or pleasure numbered 56,614, while 25,574 passed through this country on their way elsewhere. Almost 2,000 students were admitted, the number of schools approved for foreign students now being 906 with an aggregate attendance, including last year's admissions, of 3,382

Almost Pays for Itself.

According to the figures of the annual report the immigration service is almost self-supporting. The net operating cost for the year, including maintenance and repair of immigration stations, was $5,685,173.46, while the revenue to the government through the enforcement of the immigration law was $4,299,345.52. Of the receipts, more than $3,000,000 came from the head tax, more than $600,000 from fines, more than $325,000 from collections for permits to re-enter the United States, and more than $125,000 from the forfeiture of bonds.

The public health service had aggregate revenues of $113,893 for the care and treatment of aliens at the Ellis Island hospital.

Secretary Davis says that from the standpoint of administration of the immigration laws the fiscal year 1926 was the most satisfactory since the adoption of the limitation policy. In addition to Great Britain and the Irish Free State, technical advisers to consular officers in visa work are now detailed to Germany, Holland, Belgium, Poland, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. This has resulted in a material reduction of the number of aliens who come to the United States and then find themselves debarred for one reason or another.

The physical qualifications of immigrants to this country are now fairly well assured, says the secretary, and in his opinion for the present no further legislation in the way of fixing standards is necessary. There are few cases of hardship resulting from the administration of the immigration law in the United States, due to improvements in the law, a better understanding by both citizens and aliens of the principles involved, and the gradual absorption through regular channels of a certain proportion of the immigration which almost might be said to have stampeded following the war in efforts to reach the United States en masse.

Nevertheless, Secretary Davis quotes with emphasis President Coolidge's statement that "the situation should be carefully surveyed in order to ascertain whether it (the law) is working a needless hardship upon our own inhabitants; if it deprives them of the comfort and society of those bound to them by close family ties, such modifications should be adopted as will afford relief."

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial promises less plain sailing than the Fall-Doheny triad.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR

For so big a case, the Fall-Doheny case moved swiftly.

The jury was secured rapidly, considering the importance of the interests at stake. The opening arguments, the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, the lawyers' summing up, the judge's charge and the jurors' deliberations occupied a matter of but about three weeks.

All authorities agree that this was jig time for a legal fight involving a vindication or the penitentiary for a former member of the senate and cabinet and a capitalist who counts his millions in hundreds.

Nobody thinks the Fall-Sinclair proceedings will progress so fast.

Albert B. Fall is the same old Fall, but Harry F. Sinclair is no E. L. Doheny.

Fall and Doheny were "desert rats" together, "pardners" of the long ago, friends of nearly a lifetime's standing. When Doheny, to whom $100,000 was only a trifle, asserted that he made such a loan to Fall simply to help an old "side kick" out in a financial pinch, his statement had the ring of probability, or at least of possibility.

The prosecution intends to introduce evidence, however, of a $230,000 Liberty Bond transaction between Sinclair and Fall.

Odds as it may seem, it's the consensus in Washington that the Teapot Dome case, by reason of the peculiar name—"Teapot Dome"—which is associated with the Fall-Sinclair prosecution, stirred up a great deal more public interest than the Elk Hills' oil lease, which figured in the Fall-Doheny trial.

Even during the senate investigation it was suggested that the country probably would have paid very little attention to a transfer of Naval Oil Reserve No. So-and-so, whereas a Teapot Dome transfer instantly caught the eye and ear, it looked and sounded so unusual.

Elk Hills is better than Naval Reserve No. So-and-so, but Teapot Dome is still more so.

The Fall-Doheny trial has given rise to a great deal of recent talk about "oil scandals."

Senator Heflin's emphatic remarks in the upper house of congress concerning the Fall-Doheny verdict have caused yet more of it. For what he said on the senate floor Heflin can't be called to account and he was unsparing in his denunciation of everything connected with the trial—prosecution and defense, witnesses, judge and jury.

The oil cases were a somewhat somnolent issue when Fall and Doheny were put on trial. They'll be an exceedingly wakeful one at the trial of Fall and Sinclair.

Doheny, in court, was a picturesque old prospector, with a kindly side to him—at any rate, as it was easily possible to present him. Sinclair is the hard, shrewd business man, and it will be difficult to present him otherwise. How Fall appears seems likely depend on the co-defendant he stands up with.

RECORD FRUIT CROP THIS YEAR

The final estimated value of West Virginia's fruit crop in 1926 shows that the state's crop of apples, peaches, pears and grapes have a total value of $8,744,725 or about 50 per cent greater than the total value for 1925 of $5,897,000. The large increase is due to increased production rather than higher prices as the prices for apples and peaches are only about half of what they were in 1925; according to John W. Smith, commissioner of agriculture for West Virginia and Barnard Gibbs of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS REOPEN MONDAY

Grant district public schools will reopen after the Christmas holiday vacation Monday, according to an announcement made today by Superintendent A. D. Osborne.

During the period repairs were made to the seating and heating arrangements in the Allison building, while improvements are to be made at the Franklin building.

Number of the teachers who have been spending the holidays in other places will return Sunday.

COUNTY ASSESSOR ATTENDING MEET

R. C. Evans, county assessor, is attending the annual meting of the assessors from every county in the state which opened at Charleston on Tuesday.

State Tax Commissioner Grant Hall is presiding at the sessions which included an address by Governor Howard M. Gore. Taxation questions were the principal matters considered.

Watch Night Parties.

Number of watch night parties are scheduled to be held tomorrow night by young people of the city. Services will be held in the Nazarene church.

Dance Plans Completed.

Plans have been completed for the dance to be held under the auspices of the Welfare department of the Homer Laughlin China company tomorrow night in the Eagles' hall, East Liverpool.

Music will be furnished by De Mar Miller's orchestra.

Many Attend Revival.

Large crowd attended the revival services last night in the Church of the Nazarene. The sermon was delivered by Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Nazarene church of Chester.

Holiday Will Be Observed.

New Years day will be observed as a general holiday here. Industrial plants will be idle while the business houses will be closed the greater part of the day. Holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES DISCUSSED

Each and every community in West Virginia has it within its power to impose an offset against the increased insurance rates proposed by the fire insurance companies doing business in the state, it is asserted by State Fire Marshal C. L. Topping. Decreasing fire hazards, improving fire fighting facilities and giving fire prevention education the high status it deserves, will locally counteract the higher insurance cost in prospect, Mr. Topping declares.

"The city of Morgantown has just furnished an illuminating example of what can be done to keep insurance rates down," said the fire marshal. "The university city has gained the new and improved classification in fire insurance for which its officials have been striving for nearly a decade, and it will mean an annual saving to that city in insurance premiums of approximately $50,000.

BUCK JONES FILM BOOKED

"Flying Horseman" at American Friday and Saturday.

Although his screen career is shot through with exciting moments Buck Jones encountered some of the most gripping experiences of his life in making "The Flying Horseman," his latest Fox Films Western which opens a two-day run at the American theatre Friday. In this fast-moving story, based upon Max Brand's novel, Buck is surrounded by an excellent cast. Gladys McConnell has the leading feminine role.

Buck, cast as Mark Winton, is en route to the sleepy little town of Los Santos, when he encounters Bert Ridley abusing one of eight boys, the sons of Happy Joe. Happy Joe is a jolly old derelict who has a shack on the ranch of Colonel Savary. Ridley in love with June, Colonel Svory's daughter, takes a beating at the hands of Buck. He leaves swearing vengeance. How he compromises Buck, falsely accuses him of murder, and tries to prevent Silver Buck winning the Comanche Handicap lays the foundation for one of the most absorbing screen stories seen in recent months.

In the cast with Buck is Harvey Clark, inimitable comedian, and many other screen favorites. The list includes Bruce Covington, Walter C. Percival, Hank Mann, Vester Pagg, Joseph Rickson and eight of the liveliest youngsters in pictures.

Orville Dull directed the production from a scenario by Gertrude Orr.

'SUE DEAR' HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Don Lanning Comes to Ceramic Next Week.

"Sue Dear" will be the opening attraction of Don Lanning and company, which opens a week's engagement at the Ceramic theatre Monday. Lanning, East Liverpool boy, will appear in the role of Chickie O'Brien, the jewelry guard, and will offer several song and dance numbers.

Since leaving here early in the fall, Lanning has organized a harmony quartet, which compares favorably with the best in vaudeville. Tommy Creedon, who was with him for two years in the south, and his two dancing girls, Effie Burley and Vyonne La Tour, have rejoined the company.

Lanning's company will stage two performances each evening—at 7 and 9 o'clock. Popular prices will prevail.

AWAIT SENTENCE IN LOVE MURDER

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Hantonia Kobrzycki, 34, and Alexander Miller, 36, who pleaded guilty Friday night to the murder of Mrs. Kobrzycki's husband, Paul, will be sentenced Friday. Mrs. Kobrzycki is the mother of three children and Miller the father of three. Paul was shot to death while he and his wife slept in two beds. Mrs. Kobrzycki and Miller confessed that they decided to kill Kobrzycki so that they might marry. Mrs. Kobrzycki admitted she left the doors of her home open to permit Miller to enter to shoot her husband.

Elks' League Quint To Play Wellsville

Face Nash Motors Tonight on Down River Team's Home Court; Columbiana Drops Back as Result of Defeat by East Palestine.

COMPLEXION of the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball League first half race is altered considerably as a result of three contests staged by loop rivals last night.

Columbiana was fooled to the extent of a 31 to 19 walloping by East Palestine; Lisbon emerged from its clash with Wellsville with its first victory of the season, 33 to 27; and Damascus set back Salineville, 24 to 18.

As a result of the changes in the standing the East Liverpool Elks, who now are tied for fourth place with East Palestine, face the opportunity of climbing into the third place bunk tonight if the Wellsville Nash Motors don't spring a surprise like that East Palestine handed Columbiana last night.

For Columbiana will tangle with Salem, the league leaders, at Salem, tonight, and although the contest should develop one of the keenest battles of the season to date, the odds prophecy a win for the Hullins Body quint. If Columbiana should win, which would be good news to the rest of the league teams, and the Elks fork out a victory, the two teams which remain in third and fourth places, respectively.

The Wellsville Nash Motors have been dogged by a jinx from the outset, losing every game of the schedule to the present time by only a few points—just enough to let the other team win—with the exception of the Salem encounter which was decisively copped by the Salemites.

Tonight they will make a bid to come back against the Elks.

Manager Davis was not certain at noon today whether the contest would be played at the high school gymnasium or the Methodist Episcopal church cage. On account of vacation week at the schools, it may be impossible to obtain the school gymnasium. In this event, he said, the game would be played on the church court.

The Wellsville quint used a number new players in last night's game Lisbon and although the efficiency of the team in general was bettered, the various individuals of the squad were unable to perfect an adequate team work against the county seaters.

East Palestine, as a result of its victory over Columbiana, together with Salineville's defeat, usurned the fourth place claims of the Washington township aggregation. The Columbianans, apparently, figured Paragons an easy bet, which they are not, and started their second string performers. Before the Boosters knew just exactly what was going on, East Palestine had run up an 8 or 10 point lead and despite the efforts of the Columbiana first squad, held on to it until the game was over.

Damascus continued its climb toward the top by overthrowing Salineville, and now holds down second place, exclusively, ousting the Columbiana five.

Tuesday's game, calling for the appearance of Salineville at East Palestine, was postponed, because of the inability of the East Palestine management to get a floor, the Tourists' club court being occupied by Salineville and East Palestine high school teams.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Now here is that old question again—asked me more often by golfers than any other one question: Where is the weight at the top of the back swing? When you grip the ground with your feet during the address — by attempting slightly to drag the feet toward each other across the ground — you will find that at the top of your back swing, if you hold your head still, your weight appears to be about evenly divided between the feet, or it may appear to be slightly more on the left foot than on the right. The truth is, the weight is about evenly divided, but the left foot may appear to be supporting more of it for the reason that you are on your left toe only, while the right foot is flat. And there will be a considerable feeling of tightness about the middle body, and a slight but not uncomfortable tightness in the shoulders—not rigidity in either, however.

STANFORD RED BIG FAVORITE

"Pop's" Pessimistic Warnings go Unheeded.

By Jack James.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Despite the efforts of Mr. Glenn Warner—sometimes known as "Pessimistic Pop"—to create an atmosphere of doubt and disillusionment, the sons of the Stanford Red continue to impress the impressionable in their daily cavortings on the Pasadena rose bowl greensward. Which goes to prove that murder will out, or something to the same general effect.

Mr. Warner would fain arouse in the public consciousness a sincere questioning of the Stanford varsity football squad.

Mr. Warner's squad, it may be recalled, enjoyed quite a successful season out here on the Pacific slope, handing out many a slap to the chin and taking proportionately few in return. Success of this sort is apt to have a kick-back, according to the findings of our leading psychologists.

The athletes so favored are apt, so declare these scientific gentlemen, to esteem themselves rather highly, and thus fall victim to their own delusions of grandeur.

Mr. Warner would much prefer to have his team enter this contest against the crimson tide of Alabama on day after tomorrow as the "under dog" in popular esteem. Under such circumstances, the good old fashioned "fight talk" with which every well brought up coach favors his troupe in critical moments just before the battle might be expected to take with more deadly effect.

Stanford finds favor hereabouts because the folks hereabouts saw Stanford come from behind a 12-point lead and nose into a 13-12 victory over the Trojans, and those Trojans were a fair country football team, mates, despite their two disappointments.

Football followers of this vicinity cannot forget the bewildering deception, the concerted power, the grim determination of the Stanford attack on that October afternoon. And because they remembered they figure that Alabama, or any other ball club, would have to be just short of super-human to deny a repetition of that attack.

If more football followers of this vicinity could have seen this same Stanford attack in the latter stages of it development—against the Washington huskies in the middle of November and against the bedraggled California Bears the Saturday following—they would be even more prone to favor Stanford, whether the opposition be Alabama, Notre Dame or Timbuctoo. Stanford looked unbeatable on those two appearances, and Stanford has not gone back appreciably since.

SMITH WINS SIX IN CUE TOURNEY

Smith, title winner in the American billiard tournament which closed recently, won six games and dropped only one to cop the laurels, the final standings show today. Johannes, whom Smith defeated in the play-off, won six and dropped two.

Shevers finished third with five victories and three defeats.

Rodebaugh and Herbert finished the campaign in a tie for fourth place, each with four wins and as many losses.

Two victories and five setbacks gave Shaffer sixth place, with Eisman and Trout winding up with one victory and six losses.

In last night's pocket billiard match, Jerry Lanning won decisively from L. Herbert, 75 to 39, contributing a high run of 27.

Sainer and McDowell will play tonight.

Tigers' Claws are Dulled by Buckeye Basketball Squad

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30.—The Princeton basketball tiger was licking his various and assorted wounds today, and revising his views of Big Ten conference cage ability, as a result of a 33 to 13 victory administered by the Ohio State quintet here last night. The Buckeye squad led all the way, with Freddy Grim, star of the Columbia-Ohio football game, accounting for five baskets during the first half, when he left the game because of personal fouls. The Buckeye squad meets Cornell here tomorrow night.

He's for Better Game Officials

Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director of Indiana University, will open a school next summer for sport officials The sole object of the school is to teach men who plan to officiate in various branches of sport the rules of each game and the proper manner of handling each situation.

10 TO 8 ODDS ON INGRAM'S TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. — The east-west athletes who will meet in their annual clash here on New Year's day, today were marking time while their respective coaches, "Navy Bill" Ingram and "Babe" Hollingbery, were telling each other that the game "was in the bag."

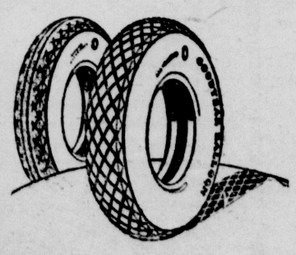

Beaten 6 to 0 last year, the eastern college athletes are nevertheless favorites to win the tilt this year, having been installed as 10 to 8 favorites.

Would Make Baseball "Swallow Its Words."

DETROIT, Dec. 30.—Ty Cobb, his eyes flashing the spirit that made him famous on the ball field, was here today to plan the fight he hopes will make organized baseball "swallow the words" that drove him from the diamond. He was accompanied by "Smoky Joe" Wood, former big league pitcher and E. S. Burke, of Cleveland, adviser and friend of Cobb.

The colorful star conferred with J. O. Murfin, prominent Michigan jurist, who will advise him on the legal course, if any, to pursue against those whose charges made him the center of baseball's latest scandal.

Neither Cobb nor Murfin would discuss reported plans for a suit against Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, Ban Johnson, president of the American League and the league itself.

"I am in the hands of my attorney," Cobb said. "From now on he will direct my course of action."

Cobb said he hasn't the slightest idea what he intends to do. Neither does Judge Murfin, his attorney, so he says.

"I want to know the circumstances in detail before I decide," Murfin said. "When I am thoroughly acquainted with the facts I will make an announcement."

Ty wasn't the dashing star of the last two decades when he came into the Michigan Central last night. He is only 40 but the lines and expressions that played about his face, made him appear much older.

Leaving the train, Cobb seemed depressed. He was hanging his head in much the same manner as he does while his team is fighting an uphill battle. He tugged his way up the elevated runway from the train, dejected, and unhappy.

But the short walk to a taxicab changed Ty's disposition entirely. The shouts of strangers, the handshakes of friends and the cries of newsboys: "Hello, Ty" cheered. He began to realize that he was back home.

Cobb and Wood declined to comment on a statement attributed to Fred O. West, former employe at Navin field, in which the latter was credited with saying that the money mentioned in the baseball scandal was wagered on a horse race and not on a ball game as claimed by "Dutch" Leonard, former Detroit pitcher.

"I have not read West's statement and have nothing to say," Cobb declared. Wood echoed Ty's stand.

West's statement cleared Cobb, Wood and Tris Speaker of all blame in the affair.

Will Allow Former 'Black Sox' Player To Tell His Story

"Swede", With "Inside Information," Charges Judge and "Big Bosses" Don't Want the Facts; Ex-shortstop Will be Given an Opportunity to Talk, Says Commissioner.

By Gene Hoffman.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Charles "Swede" Risberg, former shortstop on the Chicago White Sox team, banished with six of his mates from organized baseball in 1920 following exposure of the "framed" world series of the year before, will be given an opportunity to tell what he knows of "crooked baseball," Commissioner K. M. Landis indicated today.

The former "Black Sox" infielder had announced that he had a lot of "inside information" that would crumble still further the tottering pillars of baseball, but charged that "Landis and the big bosses do not want this information."

Risberg pooh-poohed the Cobb-Speaker-Wood-Leonard scandal and ridiculed Commissioner Landis for his handling of the case. He challenged Landis to a showdown, and indicated that if the commissioner is really interested in "baseball crookedness," he could tell him things that would make the Cobb-Speaker affair look tame.

"But they don't want the facts," said Risberg.

That Landis and "the bosses" do want the facts was indicated today in Commissioner Landis' acceptance of Risberg's challenge. Asked what action he would take concerning Risberg's charges, Landis said:

"Of course he will be asked for the information. Anything along that line will be most welcome."

Risberg was quoted in telegraphic dispatches from Rochester, Minn., near where he spends his winters on a farm. He plays baseball at Watertown, South Dakota, during the summer. Risberg said he offered all his information during the grand jury investigation of the 1920 scandal, but that "nobody wanted to hear it."

Elks' League Quint To Play Wellsville

Face Nash Motors Tonight on Down River Team's Home Court; Columbiana Drops Back as Result of Defeat by East Palestine.

COMPLEXION of the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball League first half race is altered considerably as a result of three contests staged by loop rivals last night.

Columbiana was fooled to the extent of a 31 to 19 walloping by East Palestine; Lisbon emerged from its clash with Wellsville with its first victory of the season, 33 to 27; and Damascus set back Salineville, 24 to 18.

As a result of the changes in the standing the East Liverpool Elks, who now are tied for fourth place with East Palestine, face the opportunity of climbing into the third place bunk tonight if the Wellsville Nash Motors don't spring a surprise like that East Palestine handed Columbiana last night.

For Columbiana will tangle with Salem, the league leaders, at Salem, tonight, and although the contest should develop one of the keenest battles of the season to date, the odds prophecy a win for the Hullins Body quint. If Columbiana should win, which would be good news to the rest of the league teams, and the Elks fork out a victory, the two teams which remain in third and fourth places, respectively.

The Wellsville Nash Motors have been dogged by a jinx from the outset, losing every game of the schedule to the present time by only a few points—just enough to let the other team win—with the exception of the Salem encounter which was decisively copped by the Salemites.

Tonight they will make a bid to come back against the Elks.

Manager Davis was not certain at noon today whether the contest would be played at the high school gymnasium or the Methodist Episcopal church cage. On account of vacation week at the schools, it may be impossible to obtain the school gymnasium. In this event, he said, the game would be played on the church court.

The Wellsville quint used a number new players in last night's game Lisbon and although the efficiency of the team in general was bettered, the various individuals of the squad were unable to perfect an adequate team work against the county seaters.

East Palestine, as a result of its victory over Columbiana, together with Salineville's defeat, usurped the fourth place claims of the Washington township aggregation. The Columbianans, apparently, figured Paragons an easy bet, which they are not, and started their second string performers. Before the Boosters knew just exactly what was going on, East Palestine had run up an 8 or 10 point lead and despite the efforts of the Columbiana first squad, held on to it until the game was over.

Damascus continued its climb totoward the top by overthrowing Salineville, and now holds down second place, exclusively, ousting the Columbiana five.

Tuesday's game, calling for the appearance of Salineville at East Palestine, was postponed, because of the inability of the East Palestine management to get a floor, the Tourists' club court being occupied by Salineville and East Palestine high school teams.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Now here is that old question again—asked me more often by golfers than any other one question: Where is the weight at the top of the back swing? When you grip the ground with your feet during the address — by attempting slightly to drag the feet toward each other across the ground — you will find that at the top of your back swing, if you hold your head still, your weight appears to be about evenly divided between the feet, or it may appear to be slightly more on the left foot than on the right. The truth is, the weight is about evenly divided, but the left foot may appear to be supporting more of it for the reason that you are on your left toe only, while the right foot is flat. And there will be a considerable feeling of tightness about the middle body, and a slight but not uncomfortable tightness in the shoulders—not rigidity in either, however.

STANFORD RED BIG FAVORITE

"Pop's" Pessimistic Warnings go Unheeded.

By Jack James.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Despite the efforts of Mr. Glenn Warner—sometimes known as "Pessimistic Pop"—to create an atmosphere of doubt and disillusionment, the sons of the Stanford Red continue to impress the impressionable in their daily cavortings on the Pasadena rose bowl greensward. Which goes to prove that murder will out, or something to the same general effect.

Mr. Warner would fain arouse in the public consciousness a sincere questioning of the Stanford varsity football squad.

Mr. Warner's squad, it may be recalled, enjoyed quite a successful season out here on the Pacific slope, handing out many a slap to the chin and taking proportionately few in return. Success of this sort is apt to have a kick-back, according to the findings of our leading psychologists.

The athletes so favored are apt, so declare these scientific gentlemen, to esteem themselves rather highly, and thus fall victim to their own delusions of grandeur.

Mr. Warner would much prefer to have his team enter this contest against the crimson tide of Alabama on day after tomorrow as the "under dog" in popular esteem. Under such circumstances, the good old fashioned "fight talk" with which every well brought up coach favors his troupe in critical moments just before the battle might be expected to take with more deadly effect.

Stanford finds favor hereabouts because the folks hereabouts saw Stanford come from behind a 12-point lead and nose into a 13-12 victory over the Trojans, and those Trojans were a fair country football team, mates, despite their two disappointments.

Football followers of this vicinity cannot forget the bewildering deception, the concerted power, the grim determination of the Stanford attack on that October afternoon. And because they remembered they figure that Alabama, or any other ball club, would have to be just short of super-human to deny a repetition of that attack.

If more football followers of this vicinity could have seen this same Stanford attack in the latter stages of it development—against the Washington huskies in the middle of November and against the bedraggled California Bears the Saturday following—they would be even more prone to favor Stanford, whether the opposition be Alabama, Notre Dame or Timbuctoo. Stanford looked unbeatable on those two appearances, and Stanford has not gone back appreciably since.

SMITH WINS SIX IN CUE TOURNEY

Smith, title winner in the American billiard tournament which closed recently, won six games and dropped only one to cop the laurels, the final standings show today. Johannes, whom Smith defeated in the play-off, won six and dropped two.

Shevers finished third with five victories and three defeats.

Rodebaugh and Herbert finished the campaign in a tie for fourth place, each with four wins and as many losses.

Two victories and five setbacks gave Shaffer sixth place, with Eisman and Trout winding up with one victory and six losses.

In last night's pocket billiard match, Jerry Lanning won decisively from L. Herbert, 75 to 39, contributing a high run of 27.

Sainer and McDowell will play tonight.

Tigers' Claws are Dulled by Buckeye Basketball Squad

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30.—The Princeton basketball tiger was licking his various and assorted wounds today, and revising his views of Big Ten conference cage ability, as a result of a 33 to 13 victory administered by the Ohio State quintet here last night. The Buckeye squad led all the way, with Freddy Grim, star of the Columbia-Ohio football game, accounting for five baskets during the first half, when he left the game because of personal fouls. The Buckeye squad meets Cornell here tomorrow night.

He's for Better Game Officials

Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director of Indiana University, will open a school next summer for sport officials The sole object of the school is to teach men who plan to officiate in various branches of sport the rules of each game and the proper manner of handling each situation.

10 TO 8 ODDS ON INGRAM'S TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. — The east-west athletes who will meet in their annual clash here on New Year's day, today were marking time while their respective coaches, "Navy Bill" Ingram and "Babe" Hollingbery, were telling each other that the game "was in the bag."

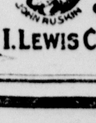

Beaten 6 to 0 last year, the eastern college athletes are nevertheless favorites to win the tilt this year, having been installed as 10 to 8 favorites.

Notice is hereby given that William L. Prescott has been appointed Administrator of the estate of Catherine Neilson, deceased.
LODGE RIDDLE.
Probate Judge

G. Y. Travis, Attorney.
Published at East Liverpool, Ohio, in The Review-Tribune, Dec. 23, 30, 1926, and Jan. 6, 1927.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the auditor of the City of Salem, State of Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon of January 29th 1927, for the purchase of bonds of the said City in the aggregate sum of $5,550.00, dated the first day of October, 1926. Said bonds will be eight (8) in number and numbered from three to ten, both inclusive, and will draw interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows:

One bond on October first in each of the years from 1930 to 1937, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying the property owner's share of the cost and expense of improving Hawley Avenue from the north curb line of McKinley Avenue to the south curb line of High street, by paving the same, and under authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 3914 of the General Code of Ohio, under and in accordance with a certain ordinance of the said City, numbered 260921 A, passed on the twenty-first day of September, 1926.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for, and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids to be accompanied with a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of Salem for ten per centum of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within ten days from the time of award, said check to be retained by the City if said condition is not fulfilled.

The City of Salem, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed, "Bids for Hawley Avenue Improvement Bonds."

G. Y. Travis, Attorney.

Published at East Liverpool, Ohio, in The Review-Tribune, Dec. 23, 30, 1926, and Jan. 6, 1927.

LEGAL NOTICE.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the auditor of the City of Salem, State of Ohio, until twelve o'clock noon of January 29th 1927, for the purchase of bonds of the said City in the aggregate sum of $5,550.00, dated the first day of October, 1926. Said bonds will be eight (8) in number and numbered from three to ten, both inclusive, and will draw interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October of each year upon presentation and surrender of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds. Said bonds will be due and payable as follows:

One bond on October first in each of the years from 1930 to 1937, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying the property owner's share of the cost and expense of improving Hawley Avenue from the north curb line of McKinley Avenue to the south curb line of High street, by paving the same, and under authority of the laws of Ohio and of Section 3914 of the General Code of Ohio, under and in accordance with a certain ordinance of the said City, numbered 260921 A, passed on the twenty-first day of September, 1926.

Said bonds will be sold to the highest and best bidder for not less than par and accrued interest.

All bids must state the number of bonds bid for, and the gross amount of bid and accrued interest to date of delivery. All bids to be accompanied with a certified check payable to the Treasurer of the City of Salem for ten per centum of the amount of bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, within ten days from the time of award, said check to be retained by the City if said condition is not fulfilled.

The City of Salem, Ohio, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed, "Bids for Hawley Avenue Improvement Bonds."

Who Pulls the Strings?
If He Were a Woman.
A Dr. Work Who Works.
Be Patient With Static.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

SECRETARY KELLOGG assures Senator Borah that in Nicaragua we are not taking sides with the established, shaky government, or with the victorious rebels. Our forces are only protecting American life and property.

No one questions Secretary Kellogg's absolute sincerity, and his statement is reassuring.

On the other hand, Senator Borah says:

"The revolution in Nicaragua was inspired and is directed by eight or ten persons here who are not even Nicaraguans."

It is perhaps none of the American people's business, but they would like to know who it is that pulls strings in a neighboring republic, making it necessary to send our forces there. We would not let Nicaragua land forces here. Why bully a small neighbor? We don't land forces in Russia, you'll notice!

MUSSOLINI says, "I shall make no new provinces until 1932. Then I will reward those regions which show themselves laborious, disciplined and prolific."

Three wonderful words for a nation that wishes to dominate in old Roman fashion, laborious, disciplined, prolific.

Laborious, you produce results; disciplined, you obey without question orders of a mind better than yours; prolific, you provide children to work after you have worked yourself to death.

Three better words, for America, were chosen by a former president of the Santa Fe, Mr. Ripley: [illegible] deputize, supervise.

DR. WORK, secretary of the interior, says of the 1927 outlook: "There is not a single distress sign on the whole economic horizon."

Secretary Work doesn't sit at his desk, guessing. He travels over the country constantly, studying opportunities for national improvement. He knows conditions, and his opinion is important and encouraging.

Be patient with static, when it interferes with jazz music or prize fight news coming sweetly over your radio. Prof. Pupin of Columbia college, says static and "fading" enemies of radio enthusiasts, really indicate that other planets are trying to talk to us. They send powerful messages that interfere with our feeble radio, and Pup'n thinks we shall understand those messages within 25 years.

WISE men in Milwaukee will devote three days to discussing high questions, including this, "Can Christianity be of any practical use in changing existing conditions?"

Christianity has been changing existing conditions for about nineteen hundred years; there is no reason why it should break down now. To "love thy neighbor as thyself," trying to help him, instead of trying to rob him, will always improve conditions if men mean it.

Good Proportions In the Diet

The problem of serving well-balanced meals often causes the conscientious housewife a good deal of worry. Adequacy, wholesomeness, attractiveness and cost must all be considered.

The booklet," Good Proportions in the Diet," prepared by the States Relation Service of the Department of Agriculture covers thoroughly every detail of food selection, tells what kinds of food are needed, gives the proportions and amounts of food required, and suggests a number of menus for well-balanced meals.

Every woman who is responsible for the meals of a household should have a copy of this book. Send for yours today. Fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT WILL BE CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

Former Football Star Fights to Escape Prison Sentence.

DENIES CHARGE

Seeks Third Trial in Shooting of Taxi Driver.

George A. Anderson, 44, former automobile dealer and college football star, twice convicted of manslaughter in the shooting of Frank McLain, 27, taxicab driver, will carry his fight for a third trial to the supreme court, it was announced today through his counsel, Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

Seek Stay of Execution.

A petition in error will be filed as a result of the appellate court's affirmation of the Columbiana county common pleas court conviction in the second trial, it was said.

Application probably will be made for a stay of execution of the indeterminate sentence of four years and eight months to 20 years in the penitentiary mete out to the convicted man.

Anderson is now at liberty under $5,000 bond pending outcome of the court fight.

Shooting Occurred Oct. 7, 1925.

McLain was fatally shot on Oct. 7, 1925, in Anderson's bedroom in Second street after answering a taxicab call.

At his first trial, Anderson was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to serve from five to 20 years in the penitentiary. He had served four months when the court of appeals ordered a new trial. He was returned to Lisbon, released on bond and a short time later again convicted of manslaughter. Credit for the four months' imprisonment was given in the second sentence.

The ruling of the appellate court affirming the decision of the common pleas court was written by Judge John Pollock, of Belmont county, and concurred in by Judges L. T. Farr, Columbiana county, and James Roberts, Ashtabula county.

The decision consisting of 16 typewritten pages reviews the evidence in the case.

Appellate Court Ruling.

The appellate court ruling, in part, says:

"Without discussing it, we think there was sufficient testimony if the jury gave credit to it, to sustain the claim of the state that George Anderson at the time of the commission of this act, was intoxicated. He testifies that the discharge of the gun was an accident, that in reaching for the matches, and just as he took the matches, he stumbled against the dresser and the gun was discharged. If it was so discharged accidentally, he could not be convicted. The question then arises, whether or not the jury were warranted under the testimony which we have referred to, in finding George Anderson guilty of intentionally, while in an intoxicated condition, discharging the gun.

"It must be remembered that a reviewing court cannot reverse the case on this ground, because its view might have been different from that of the jury, but the court must find that the verdict of the jury manifestly against this degree of evidence required to convict in order to reverse. In order to inflict this wound the gun

JURY WILL PROBE COASTERS' DEATHS

UNCLE SAM WILL QUIT USE OF WOOD ALCOHOL AS DENATURING ELEMENT

Treasury Chemists Seek Satisfactory Substitute, With View to Possible Elimination of Poison.

NEW FORMULAE ARE SUGGESTED

Government Experts Disclose What People Get When They Drink "Doctored" Liquor.

By ROBERT S. THRONBURGH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced officially today that the government plans to take all poison out of industrial alcohol.

New formulae already have been prepared for denaturing which render industrial alcohol sickening for humans but not deadly, Mellon said. To a certain extent, these formulae have been put into actual use.

Removal of Poison From Alcohol.

Mellon feels that the government should not attempt to enforce the prohibition law by the use of poison such as wood alcohol. He explained that the present situation is being remedied as rapidly as possible.

Instructions have been given to treasury chemists to continue the investigation into all denaturing processes with a view to removal of the virulent poisons from industrial alcohol.

Referring to the general phases of prohibition, Mellon declared that it is unreasonable even to expect complete enforcement. It would be like anticipating that enforcement of any law would be complete. The secretary feels that it is a question as to what extent the law can be enforced.

According to the secretary, the treasury is endeavoring to bring about the most complete enforcement possible.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Use of wood alcohol as a denaturing element may be discontinued whenever treasury chemists find a satisfactory substitute, it was disclosed today.

New denaturing formulae are under investigation by Dr. J. M. Doran and William V. Linder, chief chemists of the prohibition unit, with a view to possible elimination of all poison from industrial alcohol.

While the federal law provides for wood alcohol as a basic denaturing element, Doran explained that its use is optional.

"Wood alcohol is the most satisfactory denaturant so far discovered," Doran said. "The government is investigating denaturants seeking to discover an element more difficult to remove from alcohol by redistillation. If a non-poisonous element is found more suited to the purpose than wood alcohol it will be used."

The law provides that the denaturing process of alcohol shall "destroy its character as a beverage and render it unfit for liquid medicinal purposes." The character and quantity of the denaturing material shall be prescribed by the treasury.

Wood alcohol is used in but five of the present 70 formulae for denaturing, according to Linder.

Reveal Denaturing Elements.

Prohibition chemists insist that four per cent wood alcohol does not create a deadly poison unless used continually over a long period. A beverage with this and other denaturants, however, is admittedly injurious to health.

No City-Rural Mail Deliveries On New Year's

Holiday hours will be in effect at both the downtown and Station A postoffices on New Year's day.

There will be no deliveries by city or rural carriers while the general delivery and stamp windows will be open from 9 to 10 a. m. only. The money order, registry and postal savings departments will be closed all day.

Special delivery service will be maintained throughout the day and mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

2,897 POISON LIQUOR DEATHS ARE REPORTED

New York Toll From Holiday Drinking Is 34.

HI[illegible]PLAN

Government Policy of Denaturing Alcohol is Denounced.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Eight additional deaths attributed to poison liquor today brought New York's toll from holiday drinking up to 34.

With this record casualty list for the metropolitan districts came figures from many parts of the nation showing an astounding number of deaths from poison alcohol for the first 51 weeks of the year.

The staggering total for the country, in reports available up to today is 2,897. Admittedly, the figure actually is much larger, as an exact total of the casualties cannot be obtained, it was said.

With this rise in liquor deaths there was considerable condemnation by educators and labor leaders of the government policy of denaturing industrial alcohol which finds it way into the hands of bootleggers.

Dr. Butler Calls It "Murder."

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university denounced the government's policy in denaturing liquor he said:

"Murder! Just plain, unadulterated murder by our glorious paternal government, is what I think of the deaths attributed to consumption of liquor manufactured from poisoned alcohol.

"Let it go. Why stop it? The more victims of governmental murder, the better the government, I suppose. To a government which has undertaken to do what already has been done in this tragedy of prohibition a few more murders mean nothing."

Best available statistics on the 1926 deaths follow:

747 in New York City, including holiday toll.

808 in other parts of New York state.

1,342 for other parts of the country heard from up to today.

PAT M'DERMOTT MOVE FOR NEW TRIAL FAILS; RUDNER NEXT

Mellett's Slayer Will be Sentenced Within 10 Days.

PEGGY IS FREED

Second Defendnt Will Face Jury on February 7.

CANTON, O., Dec. 30.—Judge E. W. Diehl today overruled the motion of Attorney E. L. Mills, for a new trial for Patrick Eugene McDermott, convicted of first degree murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher. Mills said he did not care to argue the motion.

Judge Diehl said he would sentence McDermott within a week or 10 days.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock released Peggy Cavanaugh, Cleveland waitress, witness in the McDermott case, on her own recognizance.

Ben Rudner will probably be the next tried for the Mellett murder. The case has been tentatively set for February 7.

TRIBUTE PAID DEAD CLUB MEN

Memorial Services are Held at Kiwanis Luncheon.

Memorial services for five deceased members were conducted by the Kiwanis club in connection with the luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today.

Those to whom a tribute was paid were Monroe Patterson, Elias L. Bradfield, Rev. Lionel C. Difford, Robert L. Parker and Thomas F. Anderson. Five-minute talks were made by W. A. Weaver who eulogized Mr. Patterson; Rev. B. R. Johnson, who lauded E. L. Bradfield; Attorney R. G. Thompson, who paid a tribute to Rev. Mr. Difford; John E. Newell, who revered the memory of R. L. Parker and R. C. Heddleston, who praised T. F. Anderson.

Sacred music was rendered by the Kiwanis Glee club, directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin, with Claire Chambers as the accompanist. This group of singers included J. O. Heddleston, William T. McNutt, Kurt Bergner, John Golden, Dr. Clyde Larkins, Wilbur Glenn, Robert Douglass, James Anderson, Cyril Taylor and Olen Dawson.

Clarence C. Cline presided. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Laughlin.

CHURCH NOTICE DEADLINE HOUR

Inasmuch as Saturday is New Year's Day, notices of Sunday services in the churches will be published in Friday's edition of the Review-Tribune. To insure publication, copy must reach the editorial department not later than 6 o'clock tonight.

CORONER VAN FOSSAN RULES "ACCIDENT" IN EAST PALESTINE CRASH

Despite Verdict, Witnesses are Summoned for Investigation of Manslaughter Charge Against Roy Corbin, 22, Driver of Automobile Which Killed Two Children on Jimtown Hill.

FINDINGS SAY COAL MINER OPERATED HIS MOTOR CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS

Accused Man, Who is Alleged to Have Abandoned His Machine and Fled Following Fatalities, is Prisoner in County Jail in Default of $3,000 Bond.

Although Coroner J. M. Van Fossan yesterday returned an "accidental death" verdict in the coasting track crash at East Palestine Sunday evening, in which William Cartwright, 15, and Viola Burson, 14, were killed, the Columbiana county grand jury, opening its session at Lisbon next Monday, will investigate the charge of manslaughter against Roy Corbin, 22, also of East Palestine, driver of the automobile which figured in the Yuletide tragedy, county officials said today.

Summonses for 58 witnesses, who will appear in the Corbin inquiry as well as other cases on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were served today by Sheriff George Wright and Deputies Lawrence Kindsvatter and E. J. Fitzgerald. The grand jury is expected to report Thursday.

Coroner Van Fossan, in his verdict in the East Palestine case, alleges that Corbin was violating a section of the state law "by driving without lights" at the time of the accident.

Corbin, unable to furnish $3,000 bond, has been committed to the county jail.

Coroner's Verdict.

The coroner's verdict follows:

"Having heard the statements of witnesses and examined the bodies of the dead children, I find that William Cartwright and Viola Burson came to death by a collision of a small sled on which they were riding and an automobile. The young people were coasting down what is known as the 'Jimtown' hill and Roy Corbin was driving up the hill in a Ford roadster, without headlights. When the collision occurred the occupants of the sled were killed. Hence, the verdict, 'accidental death due to the violation of the state law, by driving a machine without lights.'"

Corbin, a coal miner, abandoned his machine and fled following the accident, police said. The charge of manslaughter was filed against him by Unity township officials. Corbin surrendered to the East Palestine police Monday afternoon.

Funeral services for the two children, both members of the East Palestine Junior High school, were conducted in their homes yesterday afternoon. The body of the Cartwright boy was buried in the East Palestine cemetery, while the remains of the Burson child were interred in the Achortown cemetery.

NEW YEAR'S DAY GUN SHOOT HERE

Arrangements have been completed for the shoot to be held by the East Liverpool Gun club on Saturday, at the J. S. Cook farm, LaCroft.

The event will get under way at 12 o'clock and continue until 5.

KANSAS CITY FIEND HIDES

Police Watch Suburban Shack for Strangler-Slayer.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—That the strangler-slayer who has taken a toll of three lives here this week is in hiding somewhere in the eastern suburbs of this city is the tip on which police were working today.

Further strengthening of the theory that the fiend who tool the lives of two women and an infant here by gaining access to homes pretending to search for a room is the same men who terrorized other cities, was brought out when witnesses told police of having seen a man answering the discription of the slayer who strangled 11 persons to death in Pacific coast cities and one at Council Bluffs, Iowa.

A police squad this morning was detailed to watch a shack in the "East Bottoms" from which several persons are said to have seen a man come and go the past several days.

Fred Walters Home, In Glenmoor, is Destroyed by Fire

Two-story frame house owned by William Bell and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walters, along the Lincoln highway in Glenmoor was destroyed by fire at 9:45 o'cock last night. The loss is estimated at $6,000.

Mrs. Walters and a child were alone when the fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered. Fire Chief Thomas Bryan and two men from the Central Station hurried to the scene of the blaze but the house could not be saved.

C. W. Hellyer Bids $25,125 at Sale Of Ellis Home

Two pieces of property in East Liverpool were sold at sheriff's sale this week by Sheriff George Wright.

The former home of A. G. Ellis, Thompson avenue, was bid in by C. W. Hellyer for $25,125. The sale was ordered to satisfy a claim by the Finley Brothers' Lumber company of Chester.

At a bid of $4,350, Attorney W. H. Vodrey purchased the Anderson property in East Fourth street near the high school building.

FIRST INSTALLMENT OF "THE LITTLE WHITE HAG," REVIEW-TRIBUNE SERIAL, BY FRANCIS BEEDING

CHAPTER ONE.

I met him first at Dijon, on my way from Paris to Geneva.

I was drifting quietly down towards the South and for the last few days had been wandering pleasantly among the vines of the Cote d'Or. I intended to take the express from Dijon to Geneva as, having already loitered a good deal by the way, I was now in some hurry to arrive at my destination.

Dijon I knew as a town famous for its locomotives and its good food. I am not myself a gastronome, but my Paris friends had impressed upon me that nowhere in the world does one eat and drink with such cunning and in such generous measure as in the region between Dijon and the Swiss frontier and that the men of Dijon justly regarded their city as its capital. There are, it seems, in this part of Europe inns to which Sunday pilgrimages are made by devotees of the kitchen, pilgrimages of from two or three hundred kilometers, and I had heard little names mentioned with great reverence—Belley, Virieu le Grand, Artamare, Bourg-en-Bresse.

I was not personally in search of exquisite meats. Indeed, I am frequently chaffed by my Paris friends for indifference in this respect. They take it in good part for a token of my American barbarism. He eats like a savage, they say, because he is hungry. However, I had promised them if ever I should come to Dijon to put up at the "Cloche d'Or"—which, it seems, for the European connoisseur of the table, is as sacred as Mecca.

Arriving at the hotel, I was shown casually to a double-bedded room and subsequently ushered with hushed and expected ceremony to the dinner table. There I was waited upon with the deference due to a traveler who has expressed a desire to dine well and to be guided correctly in his choice of food. I put myself in the hands of the maitre d'hotel, who, menu in hand, discoursed expressively of the dishes which he suggested and the wines which alone were worthy to accompany them.

I had arrived at an early hour, for I had started my day at cock-crow to enjoy the freshness of the morning, and I intended to catch the train which passed through Dijon at about 2 a. m. I was, therefore, proposing to retire to my room immediately after dinner in order to get some four or five hours sleep before the train arrived.

My plan, however, was not to be so easily fulfilled. I had finished dining—it was, I think, about eight o'clock—and was taking coffee when there appeared at the door a stranger, who, after looking carefully around the room, advanced slowly in my direction. I thought he was intending to take a table next to mine, which was disengaged, and I did not remark him particularly, except to note that he was a small, unobtrusive kind of a man, wearing a rather shabby overcoat with a velvet collar.

Suddenly, however, he came to a stand beside me, and, the next moment I found I was being greeted by a fellow countryman.

"Pardon me," he said "but you are an American?"

I replied that I was indeed an American, but forbore to add that I had passed the last ten years or more in Paris. He seemed relieved to find that I was indeed a patriot.

"In that case,' he said, "I hope you may be willing to render me a service which I should highly appreciate."

BUREAU WORKERS ATTEND MEET

Campaign Manager L. B. Whinnery represented the Columbiana county farm bureau at a training school for campaign workers of 26 counties held in Columbus. Other farm bureau workers from this county who attended were D. F. Hahn, president-elect, of the County Farm Bureau.

The school was the first step in the largest volunteer membership effort ever planned by county farm bureaus of the state cooperating with the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. The counties entering the combined effort contain 374 townships, the great majority of which will be organized or re-organized during the period of the campaign. It is expected that around 4,000 farmers and farm women will take part in the campaign.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to Daniel Dyce, of Salem, a former resident of New York state employed as a salesman, and Miss Theresa LaVogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVogue, of Lisbon. They were married by the Rev. J. C. Cameron at the parsonage of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church.

Matt Novosel, of Port Washington, O., and Stephena Grafton, of Rochester, Pa., have obtained a marriage license at Lisbon.

Screen Version of 'Ben Hur' Opens Three-Day Run Here

Gen. Lew Wallace's Story at Ceramic Theatre Tonight—Matinees Friday and Saturday.

The long awaited Metro-Goldwin-Mayer screen version of "Ben-Hur," which has been three years in the making opens a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Matinees will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday and Saturday afternoons.

For 45 years "Ben-Hur" has been a best-seller and is said to have reached a circulation as large as the Bible. The novel was first published in 1880 following five years of study and research by General Wallace.

New theatrical history was made in America when "Ben-Hur" was produced for the first time, November 29, 1899. This was the greatest stage achievement in America up to that time and it reached the zenith in mechanical supremacy in a stage production.

Millions of people who were opposed to the theatre were made drama-lovers through the presentation of "Ben-Hur." In the first season this classic was seen by half a million people and played an engagement of from thirty to forty weeks at the Broadway theatre, New York. The following year "Ben Hur" was produced in Boston, Chicago and London. As the reigning stage attraction of the time it played all the principal American cities for twenty-two seasons.

The coming of "Ben-Hur" was a widely heralded event in every large city throughout America. There were two chief theatrical events in American life then; one was the presentation of "Ben-Hur" and the other was the arrival of the Barnum and Bailey circus. It was necessary to tear up the stage in every theatre and opera house to install the treadmill for the eight horses working in the chariot scene which was the thrilling, dramatic climax in this drama. Special trains were running on all railroads to the city where "Ben-Hur" was playing. Countless editorials were written about "Ben-Hur," meetings held to discuss the play, and a fraternal order called "The Supreme Tribe of Ben-Hur" was started at Crawfordsville, Ind., which is still active today.

Ramon Novarro is seen in the title role in the film "Ben-Hur" which was directed in Italy and California by Fred Niblo. The supporting cast includes such popular players as May McAvoy, Carmel Myers, Betty Bronson, Francis X. Bushman, Kathleen Key, Frank Currier, Mitchell Lewis, Nigel de Brulier and Claire McDowell.

FISHER OPENS GAS STATION

Company Established on Harvey Avenue Site.

Formal opening of the new Fisher Gas and Oil company's filling station, Harvey avenue, near the Louthan Manufacturing company's plant, will take place on New Year's day.

The station, which will handle gasoline and oils for both the wholesale and retail trade, is owned by Albion B. Fisher. It is connected with a siding from the Pennsylvania railroad to facilitate the unloading of supplies.

The company will handle products of the Pennzoil company, headquarters of which are in Oil City, Pa. The Pennzoil company is the largest refiners of Pennsylvania crude oil in the state, having recently announced a program for 1927 which includes the erection of 13 new stills, enlargement of the storing facilities at their refineries and other improvements.

Nicaragua

Nicaragua had one government which the United States recognized. Now it has a rival government which the United States has not recognized but which Mexico has. So far, so good. We have a right to recognize any government which seems recognizable to us, and Mexico has the same right.

But the United States has landed marines "to protect American interests." All right. Certainly American interests must be protected. If Mexico sends in forces to protect Mexican interests—well, that seems all right, too, though it complicates the situation.

But just where to draw the line between protection and unwarranted interference is difficult. Doubly difficult when two countries are entering a third, each to protect its own citizens, and each recognizing a different government.

The line has got to be sharply drawn. Mexico is our next-door neighbor and we want no trouble with her. Nicaragua is Mexico's next-door neighbor, and she wants trouble neither with her nor us. Nicaragua is the place where we shall undoubtedly dig the next canal. The last thing on earth the United States wants is any outbreak of hostilities against us, there or farther south.

It is a situation that calls for prudence and foresight.

Married Women's Names

The National Woman's Party is fighting now for the right of all married women to use their maiden names in business and professional life and in travel.

Many do that now, particularly actresses and musicians. But in most cases such names have no legal sanction. For legal documents, and many other purposes of record, the married woman is required to use her husband's name.

Recently the feminists gained a victory in the state department, when they obtained a ruling allowing married women to use their maiden names on passports. Then they made a frontal attack on the registrar of copyrights, who denied the right of a wedded authoress to use her original name.

It does seem unjust when a woman cannot get copyrights for her own stories and poems except under her husband's name, when the husband hasn't anything to do with them. This looks like an extreme case. Yet any other arrangment, generally adopted, seems likely to cause social and business confusion and complicate the ownership and transfer of property.

It is hard to see how anything is gained by a woman refusing to follow the long-established custom of using her husband's name, especially when it is possible for her to make that name merely an appendage to her own. Thus Mary Adams marries John Jones, she can follow a growing custom and call herself Mrs. Mary Adams Jones, making the whole situation obvious without losing personal identity.

Dodging Our Hospitality

"Americans are friendly but primitive creatures," says George Bernard Shaw. "Literature is so wonderful to them that they will cross the ocean to see a man who has written a book. If I were to cross the ocean to gratify their hero worship, they would shake my hands off, daze me with uplift and kill me with kindness."

So Shaw has a better way. He has discovered how to be seen and heard by the American people without being entertained and mobbed to death. He will let this country see his face and hear his voice by means of the new phono-film, or speaking movie.

Science may soon put a still better device at his command, if promises of a radio "television" or "telephoto" apparatus are realized.

All foreign celebrities in time may learn to control their generous and curious impulses in the same way, and project their faces and voices to America instead of coming here in person. Think what Queen Marie would have saved herself from if she could have done that.

Preserving Beauty

Rural England, we are told, long famous for its beautiful countryside, has been suffering in recent years from "jerry builders." Oppressively ugly, cheap little houses have been built with great detriment to the landscape and little benefit to renters or owners.

Recently a Society for the Preservation of Rural England has been organized in London to combat the "jerry builders." Its efforts will be directed to demonstrating that inexpensive homes may be beautiful instead of ugly and that they may be well built instead of carelessly.

If the society achieves its purpose it will deserve commendation, but Americans who read of its work should not content themselves with saying what a fine thing that is for England. There are a few jerry builders here and there in this country and there are unnecessary bits of ugliness in some of our countryside as well as in our cities and their suburbs.

Happy is the land where the most urgent problem is how to reduce one's weight.

Our guess is that the next king of Roumania will be Marie.

A PLEA FOR THE INVALID.

The late Colonel W. C. P. Breckenridge, most famous of all Kentucky's orators in his generation, had a feud, in the latters years of his life, with a certain physician of the Blue Grass country. At one time the two men had been close friends, political and otherwise. Also they had been comrades together in the Confederate army. But the physician supported the opponent in Colonel Brenckenridge's last race for reelection to congress from the famous Ashland district, and thereafter relations between them were strained.

The medical man was large and handsome and very dignified. He rather loved the limelight, too. He never missed a large public gathering, usually occupying a prominent place; but, curiously enough, before the meeting broke up, a person would come hot-foot to summon him to the bedside of some ailing individual. Base rumor had it that the call was not always a genuine one—that the messenger was employed to foster the impression that the doctor had an enormous practice.

Once Colonel Breckenridge was acting as chief counsel for the defense in a criminal case in a county adjoining the county where he lived. The trial had attracted wide-spread interest. On the day, when the summing-up speeches were to be made, the courtroom was packed with Kentuckians anxious to hear the feast of eloquence. Colonel Breckenridge had just begun his address when a citizen hurried in the word that Dr. ——— was needed immediately in a case of life and death. The physician arose from where he sat on a front bench and in a seeming great hurry began to shove his way through the jam toward the door.

If the silver tongued Breckenridge felt annoyance at having been interrupted in the opening phases of his oration, his face gave no hint of it. But, in his softest and silkiest tones he called out:

"Pray take your time, doctor, take your time! Give the patient a chance."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—No calling is so susceptible to flattery as that of the statge and screen. Talk to players about themselves and you win them. As a matter of fact it is difficult to engage them in conversation on any other topic.

Their lives are encompassed by an incessant longing for the spot. The analogy is not difficult to understand. Their careers depend solely on what people think and if they think well the players naturally want to hear it.

Writers, although I believe it is a trifle less pronounced, suffer similarly. They purr to compliments. In fact a certain hostess desiring several leading novelists to grace her dinner table included a line: "Be sure to come. We want to talk about you." All arrived with the hired butlers.

A great diva was recently guest of honor at a party. A guest who had arrived on a steamer that day to receive a sudden invitation was not aware of her identity and celebrity. He expressed an opinion that Melba was the greatest of them all.

The diva flamed red, withdrew from the table and stormed from the house. She had not come there to be insulted. And there was that day that Sarah Bernhardt telephoned the man who played an important part in her American tour.

A brash pea-shooting office boy answered the phone. "This is Bernhart," said the great lady. The lad had been kidded by experts and replied in this startling manner: "'Lo kid! How's the peg leg." It required heroic efforts to calm her. Her English was slight but she understood.

Despite the ballooning of the divine afflatus among folk of the stage and screen, they are not niggardly in bestowing praise upon their fellow players. Rarely do they "pan" a fellow artist. Which is after all something.

There is a New Yorker who has lived a cloistered life with only a few servants about him for many years. He confessed the other evening that after dinner he often crept below stairs to the servants quarters and stood behind a screen just to hear the clatter of lively conversation and laughter. Usually, he said, they were laughing at him but he enjoyed it just the same.

There are many venerable types of this sort in Manhattan. Widowed and retired, they cling to their old mansions, old servants and dreams of other days. Relatives die, children scatter and they are left alone. The monotony is broken by walks in Central Park and visits to the public library.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Immigration Law Enforced.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Records of the department of labor show that the immigration law is now being enforced more effectively than at any time since it was passed. Through building up of the coast and land border patrol and its resultant increased activities the wholesale smuggling of aliens has been puractically eliminated and organized smuggling kept within very narrow limits, says Secretary Davis. During the last fiscal year seizures valued at 0946,400 were made, and 5,580 persons were arrested. There were 331 smugglers arrested, with subsequent convictions in 100 cases.

Aliens to the number of 20,550 were debarred from entering the United States during the year, 17,563 being turned back at the international land boundaries, 15,808 from Canada and 1,775 from Mexico. The other 2,987 aliens who were not permitted to step foot within Uncle Sam's domain were rejected at the seaports and were for the most part sowaways and seamen seeking permanent admission without first obtaining visas from American consuls.

During the same period 10,904 aliens were deported from this country in addition to those excluded. This is the largest number ever deported in one year. This record was made despite the fact that for a three-month period the bureau of immigration activities in warrant proceedings were curtailed greatly as a result of the limited funds available until congress relieved the situation with a deficiency appropriation.

The deportees were sent to all parts of the world. Europe was sent 5,088, 2,588 went to Mexico, 2,102 to Canada and Newfoundland, 430 to Central and South Americas and the West Indies, 589 to Asia, and 107 to Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Islands. The aim of the department, it is stated, is to deport every alien whose departure the law requires. However, the effort is made to handle first the most urgent cases—those of aliens who have become public charges, having served terms in our jails and penitentiaries, and aliens who are insane or feeble-minded.

Much of Moral Turpitude.

Much was heard of the case of the titled English woman who was denied admission to the United States on the ground that she had been guilty of a crime involving moral turpitude—eloping and living with another woman's husband—but there seems to have been great deal of moral turpitude among people seeking admission to the United States last year, although the other cases did not become newspaper sensations. The board of review, out of 27,028 cases reviewed and decicions written during the year, passed upon 2,271 cases of the kind that are classed as crimes involving moral turpitude. In addition 1136 cases involving prostitution, immorality, and procuring were handled, and it would seem that there must have been a little turpitude in them.

The summary of the work of the board of review is interesting in its details. A total of 46,755 aliens were involved in all the cases it handled. Certain of the cases are listed as those "in which senators and congressmen were interested" and they add up to almost 3,000 in all. Actors to the number of 1,216 were either excluded or had to gain the board's approval of their entry. Thirty-four cases of anarchists, communists and members of the I. W. W. were passed up-

On the other hand there are quite a few of the old boys, hey-hey, who attune themselves to a new age and turn gay. They move to a club, take a few dancing lessons and become familiars of the ring side seats. There is always youthful feminine companionship for spenders, no matter what age.

A number of the young bloods have returned from the Continent with slight tufts on their chins. In Bond street they are called imperials. Most of them are about half the size of a postage stamp. They suggest pistols for two at sunup, but somehow or other they don't seem romantic in one-armed lunch rooms.

A gentleman telephoned to a certain restaurant for a table reservation for nine people. His guests arrived a half hour late and he was told his table had been taken but he must pay an $18 cover charge. He insisted a bill be made out and receipted, which was done. He paid the tariff. And that was that. It so happened he was a joint owner of the building in which the restaurant was situated. A new lease was being made. The rent was tripled. There's vengeance with a vengeance.

MRS. JACKSON, AGED 71, DIES

Lifelong Resident of County Succumbs at Pughtown.

Mrs. Amanda Jackson, 71 years old, widow of Dales Jackson, lifelong resident of Hancock county, dieu yesterday in her home at Pughtown, after a long illness of a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Jackson, who was born in the vicinity of Pughtown, is survived by one son, Charles, of Florida, and one daughter, Mrs. Ida Flowers with whom she made her home. She is also survived by one brother, Sherman Huff and one sister, the latter residing in Chester.

She was a member of the Pughtown Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Pughtown Presbyterian church, in charge of Rev. J. F. Cowlings. Burial will be made in Union cemetery, Pughtown.

MRS. MARY WEBB, 71, DIES HERE

Mrs. Mary Webb, 71 years, widow of Joseph Webb, died last night in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John A. Davis, Florida avenue, after a six weeks' illness.

Mrs. Webb, who formerly resided in East Liverpool, is survived in addition to Mrs. Davis by one son and eight daughters: Wilfred Webb, East Liverpool; Mrs. Robert Deitz, Mrs. Thomas Snape, Mrs. George Bloor, Mrs. Vincent McGeehan, Mrs. Davis Buzzard, Thelma Webb, all of East Liverpool; Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers, Oakland, Cal., and Mrs. Florence Richardson, Chester.

MISSION SOCIETY TO HOLD MEETING

Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet this evening with Mrs. Lewis Devitt at her home in Indiana avenue.

Devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. Bartley. Mrs. Allison will have as her subject, "Present Day Mormonism," while "Moslem Women and Children," will be the topic of Mrs. Newell. Reponse to roll call will be: "Christmas Thoughts."

THREE MEN HELD IN THEFT CASE

Jack Carissimi, Tony Pariott and Joe Presty, arrested in connection with the attempted robbery of guests at the Nick DeFabbia residence at Wellsburg last Sunday night, were given a hearing before Squire A. B. Collett and bound over to the March sitting of the Brooke county grand jury.

Presty, who was arrested at the home of Jack Carissimi, had his bond set at $500 and hopes to secure his release from the county jail soon. The other two, however, have been required to raise $2 000 each and probably will remain in the county prison at least until after the grand jury investigates their case.

The authorities are now looking for two more men, believed to have been implicated in the unsuccessful bit of banditry. All those now in the hands of the Brooke county sheriff are from Follansbee.

SPEAKERS NAMED FOR PRAYER WEEK

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, announced today that meetings in observance of the "Week of Prayer" would be held three nights next week in the church.

Rev. Thomas G. Berger, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Wellsville, will preach on Wednesday night, while the sermon Thursday evening will be delivered by Rev. W. E. A. Walker, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, East Liverpool. The closing service will be held Friday night when the sermon will be given by Rev. L. J. Davison pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, East Liverpool.

WORK SUSPENDED ON COUNTY ROADS

Thomas L. Donovan, junior engineer of the West Virginia state highway department is in receipt of orders from the state department of Parkersburg to suspend further construction work on the highways in and around Weirton that have been under construction for the past several months.

The Pittsburgh pike has been completed as far as possible this year, and is now being used for travel. The road is a fine one as far as Paris, Pa., where the road again is in bad condition. The shoulder and drains of this road have not been completed and are not likely to be before Spring, when additional road construction work by the state will be commenced in this vicinity.

It is the plan of the state highway department to connect roads leading from Weirton and Holliday's Cove to the Lincoln, William Penn and Pennsylvania highways, thus giving the state good highways from Charleston to Pennsylvania.

SPECIAL MEETS SCHEDULED HERE

Evangelistic services to continue for two weeks will begin in the First Christian church on Sunday, January 9, according to an announcement made today by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Sims.

The meetings will be in charge of Rev. C. E. Rostofer, former pastor of the church.

RUDDERLESS BRITISH CRAFT IS DRIFTING

Freighter Clearton Reports There is No Danger.

40 MEN ABOARD

Immediate Assistance Not Required Unless Storm Breaks.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The British freighter Clearton, drifting without a rudder at a point about 500 miles east of New York, is in no immediate danger, her captain wirelessed the Independent Wireless company today. The captain's message stated that he would ask the first vessel sighted to tow the Clearton to port, but would not require immediate assistance unless a storm breaks suddenly.

Several ships which were on their way this morning to aid the freighter, probably will find that their services will not be wanted. The captain of the North German liner Berlin wirelessed to Captain Hickman of the Clearton that he would reach the Clearton about noon today and take off her crew of 40, only to be informed that the Clearton would wait for another freighter that could tow her to port.

All broadcasting here was halted temporarily when the freighter's "S. O. S." call was received late last night.

The Clearton, owned by R. Chapman and Sons, left Baltimore on Dec. 26 for Queenstown, Ireland. She is a vessel of some 5,000 gross tonnage.

AUTO OWNERS, GET LICENSES!

Police Warn Arrests Will be Made on New Year's Day.

Owners of automobiles which leave garages on New Year's day without displaying 1927 automobile license plates, will be subject to arrest, Chief of Police McDermott warned today in urging motorists to apply for the new plates at once.

"I have received no word from Columbus authorizing a time extension for the 1926 licenses and motorists who appear on the streets after Friday with old license plates will be liable to arrest and a fine," McDermott said. "There is no excuse for drivers not having their new license plates as they have been on sale for more than two weeks."

J. S. Hilbert, deputy automobile commissioner, has issued approximately 900 sets of plates. Of this number 750 pairs are for pleasure cars, 130 for trucks and about 20 of the pleasure-commercial kind. There are in East Liverpool and the immediate vicinity, according to Hilbert's estimate, about 6,000 automobiles.

For the convenience of motorists, who have delayed applying for 1927 tags in the hope that a time extension would be granted, Hilbert will keep his office in Washington street open between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock tonight and also tomorrow night. Tomorrow will be the last opportunity to obtain licenses before the time limit expires.

Hilbert again called attention of automobile owners to the state automobile license law, which requires the showing of the recorded bill of sale or sworn statement of ownership when application is made for the license. The serial number on this statement affixed by the county recorder is a part of the automobile license record.

©BY LITTLE, BROWN AND CO. RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSN

I said I should be delighted, and he went on to explain. It seemed that I had just engaged the last available room in the hotel. As it was a double room, he would venture to ask whether I would share it with him.

I warned him that I should be rising in the middle of the night to catch the Geneva express, a proceeding which could hardly fail to disturb his rest. He brushed this aside, however, saying that he too would probably be catching the same train.

I am never sorry to have a chance of mixing with a fellow countryman.

I am from the South—"the land of cotton, cinnamon trees and sandy bottom"—and my grandfather served under Lee till he fell at Gettysburg—facts of which I continue to be proud. Since the age of twenty-one, however, when I entered the American and Overseas Bank, my work has kept me continuously abroad, and my only contact with my native soil has been the chance travelers from the States, who help me to be vicariously at home.

I accordingly assented to the stranger's proposal, inviting him at the same time to order his dinner at my table if he happened to be in need of company.

He sat down at once, ordering to the disgust of the maitre d'hotel, a plate of eggs and bacon, with strong coffee.

While he was waiting to be served, I took more careful stock of him. He had a small sallow face with an indeterminate mustache and wore a pair of large tortoise-shell spectacles, which concealed the color and appearance of his eyes. He seemed a weak, undistinguished kind of man—the sort one would take for a clark in a department store, except for his chin, which was firm and well molded and accorded strangely with the straggling hairs upon his upper lip.

He was sociable enough, quite voluble in fact, and very deft and quick in his movements. He informed me that he was a schoolmaster in some small township of the Middle West, the name of which I have forgotten, and that having lately acquired a traveling scholarship from a university in California, he was touring Europe in the hope of attaining what was evidently his supreme ambition—a junior professorship. Teaching the young, he naively informed me, got on his nerves, and indeed it was not difficult to imagine the kind of liberties a class of sturdy fourteen-year-olds might be expected to take with him.

All this information he imparted with a curious suggestion that his thoughts and attention were elsewhere. I noticed that he looked frequently toward the door, scrutinizing every one who entered, and that he came particularly to attention whenever he heard an automobile passing or arriving at the hotel. It reminded me rather of a hound suddenly aware of strange footsteps.

He was telling me some story, rather pointless and with his mind clearly bent on other matters, when some new arrivals came into the dining room. We had heard them drive up under the windows of the hotel, and my companion was closely watching the door when they entered. I had my back to the persons who came in, and I was aware of them at first only by the effect they had on the little schoolmaster.

I slightly altered my position and looked towards the door. An ungracefully fat man, who even from a distance was remarkably ugly and dressed in clothes only the flashiest of Paris tailors could achieve, was handing a lady's wrap to a chauffeur in uniform.

J. C. B. Beatty Case Will be Heard by City Court Jury

For the first time since the establishment of the municipal court a year ago, a jury of 12 persons will hea evidence in a criminal action when the case of J. C. B. Beatty, pottery jobber, charged with being drunk and disorderly, is called for a hearing before Judge J. C. Hanley at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Because of the absence from the city of Judge Hanley, prospective jurors will not be drawn until Friday morning. Beatty has filed the names of 12 witnesses. He will be represented by Attorney George T. Farrell, Lisbon, and Ben L. Bennett, while Solicitor Frank Hoover will prosecute the charge.

Beatty was arrested by Patrolman James Haley in the Larkins restaurant on Christmas eve, upon complaint of James T. Larkins. He was committed to jail and released on his own recognizance Christmas morning.

Effective January 1 formula No. 5, for completely denatured alcohol, will be altered to contain four instead of two per cent wood alcohol.

Chemists at the treasury today disclosed what people get when they drink industrial alcohol.

One particular formula apparently wins the prize as the basis for a general utility drink. It contains oil of lavander to perfume the drinkers, oil of citronella to keep away mosquitos, oil of sassafras to cure colds, camphor to mitigate headaches, quinine for fever, and oil of cloves to heat up ones insides.

Experts refused to speculate the effect of the use of this product as a beverage though it was described as "probably potent."

Another more deadly denaturing formula includes 2½ gallons of formaldehyde and 40 ounces of menthol to each 100 gallons of alcohol.

Other denaturing elements include extract of arnica flowers, diethylphthalate, fluid extract of ipecac, hard and soft soap, benzol, gasoline, wood alcohol, pryridine, sulphuric ether, sulphuric acid and chloroform.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Neither the industrial nor the railroad stocks were able to retain all the ground gained in Wednesday's final spurt, after displaying considerable strength at the opening today, the industrial stocks were forced downward by the renewal of the selling pressure which has been in evidence most of the week. Oil companies with Mexican properties displayed some unsettlement as a result of President Calles' refusal to postpone the operation of the new petroleum law.

As in the previous sessions of the week, the market slowed up at the lower price levels, and the volume of stock offered at the bottom of the declines was comparatively small. U. S. Steel and General Motors lost a point each, while high priced specialties, after declining about 2 points, refused to give further ground.

The recovery in cotton and other commodities was resumed at the opening of the markets, and demand was in almost every case equal to the supply. The call loan general rate was unchanged at 5½ per cent, and the prospects for a year-end squeeze in the money market appeared remote. President Calles, ultimatum to the oil companies holding Mexican property appeared to be more menacing than was generally believed, which imposed a new handicap to the rise in oil stocks.

OHIO DRY LID CLAMPED DOWN FOR NEW YEAR'S

Federal and State Prohibition Aides Perfect Plans.

AGENTS ON JOB

Seek Police Co-operation to Prevent Advent of Wet 1927.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30—Festivities in Ohio on New Year's eve will be "dry" regardless of weather conditions, if plans of federal and state prohibition enforcement officials in the Buckeye state are consummated.

Federal Prohibition Director W. H. Walker and State Prohibition commissioner B. F. McDonald today were perfecting plans for strict observance of dry laws in this state on New Year's eve—so far as it is possible for their respective field forces to bring such a situation about.

Both director Walker and commissioner McDonald announced that they will not issue any special instructions, or orders, dealing with law enforcement New Year's eve.

They asserted, however, that all possible effort will be made to prevent violations of dry laws that night. Their inspectors, they said, will be assigned to duty New Year's eve at points where, it is believed, they can perform the best service.

Special attention will be given, it was announced, to places where celebrations last New Year's were responsible for complaints alleging drunkenness and other unlawful conduct.

Law enforcement officers frankly admitted that their limited field forces prevent them from adequately coping with the situation. Director Walker has about 75 men in the field and Commissioner McDonald 30.

In most instances, it was pointed out, it will be up to the police and other local law enforcement officials to see that the "dry" lid is kept clamped on tight on New Year's eve.

Two Men Killed, Four Injured in Towanda, Pa., Wreck

TOWANDA, Pa., Dec. 30.—Two men were killed and four others were injured when a train was wrecked on the Lehigh Valley railroad near Rummerfield today, it was reported here.

Details of the wreck were lacking. Railroad officials requested that doctors and nurses from here be rushed to the scene.

15,000 DIE DURING SIEGE

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Appalling numbers of deaths occurred in Sinafu, during the siege of Wu Pei Fu, according to long delayed details which have just reached here.

One report states that between 15,000 and 20,000 persons in Sinafu died of cold and starvation while General Feng Yuh Siang was attacking the Wu Pei forces, which he eventually routed.

$250,000 HAUL BY CRIMINALS IN LONDON JOB

Harrods Department Store Looted of Jewelry.

ROBBERS ESCAPE

Thousands of Articles Carefully Packed by Thieves.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Thieves early today carried out one of the biggest hauls in British criminal annals when they raided Harrods department store, getting away with jewelry estimated to be worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Despite the fact that Harrods is in the heart of the city, being located at Knightsbridge, the thieves apparently were able to elude the watchmen and work all night collecting their loot.

Every show-case in the jewelry department of the huge store was ransacked and there are indications that the thieves left the store with their loot in a taxi-cab about 5 o'clock this morning.

Enough loot was taken from the store to furnish a well stocked jewelry store. Thousands of articles were apparently carefully packed away by the thieves for transportation, including watches, gold and silver cigarette cases, brooches, rings and bracelets.

The more expensive jewelry had been locked in the store safe and was not taken by the thieves who seemed to content themselves with a huge haul of lesser valuables.

Scotland Yard has given order that a watch be kept on all ports, as it is believed that the thieves will seek to reach the continent, not daring to try to dispose of their haul in England.

WELLSVILLE PASTOR SUES FOR LOSS OF SERMONS

16 LEE CHAPEL PARISHIONERS NAMED IN CASE

Rev. A. R. Johnson, Now at Donora, Pa., Files Action.

$1,200 IS ASKED

Alleges Linen, Bedding and Dinnerware Were Carried Away.

A series of sermons prepared by the Rev. A. R. Johnson, pastor of Lee's Chapel, African Methodist Episcopal church at Wellsville, and valued at $500, have been "appropriated" and carried away, together with other property of the minister, according to a petition filed in common pleas court today by Attorneys G. Jay Clark and P. V. Mackall, of East Liverpool, counsel for the clergyman, against 16 parishioners. He asks $1,200 damages.

Named as defendants are the following persons:

Solomon Winslow, Emmons Payne, John Beshon, Thornton Lewis, M. T. Smith, Ella Payne, George Payne, Richard Carter, Pauline Scott, Luella Scott, Henry Williams, Christine Schenkle, Cynthia Spires, Rev. Brown, Mrs. Soloman Winslow and Ralph Winslow.

The petition relates that the plaintiff is a duly ordained minister of the gospel, and is the accredited pastor of the Wellsville congregation. It is alleged that on Dec. 6, last and at other times, dwelling of the plaintiff located at 305 Fourteenth street Wellsville was entered.

It is charged that the prepared sermons of the minister, as well as linen and bedding, valued at $100, and china and dinnerware, worth $100, were carried away, and furniture valued at $500 was destroyed.

Rev. Mr. Johnson, the pastor, was recently transferred to Donora, Pa.

REVIVAL MEETS TO START JAN. 9

Series of special revival services will be launched on Sunday, January 9, in the First Christian church, according to announcement by Rev. L. E. Lee, pastor.

Rev. Lee will preach at all of the services, and will be assisted in the revivals by Mrs. Lee, who will be in charge of the music. Special programs will be arranged for each night.

J. S. Spring and Miss Mildred Armstrong will assist Mrs. Lee in the musical programs.

RAILROAD AID IS PROMISED

Whiter to Help Operations Here Whenever Possible.

Promising to intercede for the interests of the city whenever possible, E. T. Whiter, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has promised to relieve conditions, caused by the transfer of a hundred or more Pennsylvania railroad employes to other points, as much as possible in the future.

If it is possible to locate railroad operations of any kind to take the place of those eliminated here, every effort will be made to consider Wellsville, Whiter promised a delegation of local men, including F. E. Wells, C. W. Arnold and M. T. Abbott in a recent conference in Pittsburgh.

MRS. JAY LYONS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Jay Lyons will be hostess to members of the Thursday Bridge club, of East Liverpool, this afternoon at a 1 o'clock dinner bridge party at Maple Villa.

Canada's new chain of twenty-two department stores will favor Canadian goods, but will handle those from all countries.

AUTO OWNERS ADVISED TO GET NEW LICENSES

Only 400 Issued to Date, Says Local Deputy.

EXPECT 1,500

Last Minute Rush Looms as Result of Delay.

C. W. Arnold, Wellsville's deputy automobile commissioner for the registration of motor vehicles, today was anticipating a last-minute rush, and consequently, delays for the auto owner, as a result of the general apathy, he says, of the local car owners toward obtaining their 1927 licenses.

Up until today 400 sets of plates have been issued in the city, covering both pleasure cars and trucks.

It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 1,500 licenses should be disposed of here.

Arnold has several assistants on duty in his office in Main street, but up until the present time, he announces, they have not been kept busy as a result of motorists' delay in applying for their tags.

He warned owners today to get in early and eliminate the last-minute rush.

A varied program of games, talks, and exercises will precede the devotionals.

At the close of the social program, refreshment will be served.

At midnight, the congregation will assemble in the main auditorium of the church for communion observance to usher in the new year.

COUNTY COURT LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT

Nash Motors to Oppose East Liverpool Elks.

LOSE TO LISBON

Drop Close 33-27 Decision to County Seat Five.

Wellsville Nash Motors remain at the bottom of the ladder in the Columbiana County Amateur basketball league race as a result of their defeat last night by Lisbon on the county seat court.

The score, like so many others in which the locals have been beaten, was 33 to 27, giving the Lisbonites, who hitherto have failed to win a game of their three starts, a six-point victory.

With a number of new men in action, the Motors showed a vast improvement in their performance last night, although lacking in team work as a result of insufficient practice workouts together.

The Motors, undaunted by their consecutive losses however, are preparing for another tough battle here tonight with the East Liverpool Elks, now rated as one of the leading contenders for the pennant as a result of their showing in recent games.

The Elks, with a team hastily scraped together, dropped their first two games, but came back in the third and knocked off Columbiana, one of the reputed strong teams of the circuit. They then stopped Lisbon by a 42 to 20 decision recently at East Liverpool.

Kenneth Clark, former Ohio State player; Carl Wilson, ex-high; Nile Wain, Mt. Union; Ray Wilde, Geneva college; Smith Anderson, Princeton; Charles McConville, ex-high; Joe Canne, a "sandlotter;" Loren Howard, ex-church league star, and others will be seen in action with the visitors.

Manager George Davis of the local team expects to complete arrangements this afternoon for a playing floor, either at the high school or the Methodist Episcopal church. The game will start at 8:15, preceded by a preliminary, beginning at 7:15.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS

An Indiana mother tells this: "We find nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds. My little lad had trouble with his bronchial tubes from his third year, but since we started giving him Foley's Honey and Tar we have been able to control it. We know there is nothing to compare with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." The very name tells a story. Good also for croup (spasmodic) and troublesome night coughs. Ask for it. Sold everywhere.

on; alien contract labor cases numbered 9697; illiterates, 1,292; idiots, imbeciles and mentally deficient, 126; insane, 1,436; aliens arriving without funds, 3,298; physical defective, 1,009; and there were 509 cases of aliens who attempted re-entry within one year of having been deported.

Cases of surreptitious entry—stowaways, and those who had passed no inspection and had neither passport nor visa—numbered 12,829. Also there were 2,392 Chinese who had to get by the board and 394 Japanese.

There were decisions in 2,168 cases in which steamship companies were charged with bringing inadmissible aliens to our ports, and the fines assessed aggregated $644,540.

During the year almost half a million aliens were admitted to this country, while 227,755 departed, the resulting net increase in the alien population of the United States being 268,351. Of the immigrants admitted, 157,432 came from the countries that have limited quotas, while 150,299 were natives of non-quota countries, principally Canada and Mexico. Foreigners coming temporarily for business or pleasure numbered 56,614, while 25,574 passed through this country on their way elsewhere. Almost 2,000 students were admitted, the number of schools approved for foreign students now being 906 with an aggregate attendance, including last year's admissions, of 3,382

Almost Pays for Itself.

According to the figures of the annual report the immigration service is almost self-supporting. The net operating cost for the year, including maintenance and repair of immigration stations, was $5,685,173.46, while the revenue to the government through the enforcement of the immigration law was $4,299,345.52. Of the receipts, more than $3,000,000 came from the head tax, more than $800,000 from fines, more than $325,000 from collections for permits to re-enter the United States, and more than $125,000 from the forfeiture of bonds.

The public health service had aggregate revenues of $113,893 for the care and treatment of aliens at the Ellis Island hospital.

Secretary Davis says that from the standpoint of administration of the immigration laws the fiscal year 1926 was the most satisfactory since the adoption of the limitation policy. In addition to Great Britain and the Irish Free State, technical advisers to consular officers in visa work are now detailed to Germany, Holland, Belgium, Poland, Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. This has resulted in a material reduction of the number of aliens who come to the United States and then find themselves debarred for one reason or another.

The physical qualifications of immigrants to this country are now fairly well assured, says the secretary, and in his opinion for the present no further legislation in the way of fixing standards is necessary. There are few cases of hardship resulting from the administration of the immigration law in the United States, due to improvements in the law, a better understanding by both citizens and aliens of the principles involved, and the gradual absorption through regular channels of a certain proportion of the immigration which almost might be said to have stampeded following the war in efforts to reach the United States en masse.

Nevertheless, Secretary Davis quotes with emphasis President Coolidge's statement that "the situation should be carefully surveyed in order to ascertain whether it (the law) is working a needless hardship upon our own inhabitants; if it deprives them of the comfort and society of those bound to them by close family ties, such modifications should be adopted as will afford relief."

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial promises less plain sailing than the Fall-Doheny triad.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR

For so big a case, the Fall-Doheny case moved swiftly.

The jury was secured rapidly, considering the importance of the interests at stake. The opening arguments, the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, the lawyers' summing up, the judge's charge and the jurors' deliberations occupied a matter of but about three weeks.

All authorities agree that this was jig time for a legal fight involving a vindication or the penitentiary for a former member of the senate and cabinet and a capitalist who counts his millions in hundreds.

Nobody thinks the Fall-Sinclair proceedings will progress so fast.

Albert B. Fall is the same old Fall, but Harry F. Sinclair is no E. L. Doheny.

Fall and Doheny were "desert rats" together, "pardners" of the long ago, friends of nearly a lifetime's standing. When Doheny, to whom $100,000 was only a trifle, asserted that he made such a loan to Fall simply to help an old "side kick" out in a financial pinch, his statement had the ring of probability, or at least of possibility.

The prosecution intends to introduce evidence, however, of a $230,000 Liberty Bond transaction between Sinclair and Fall.

Odds as it may seem, it's the consensus in Washington that the Teapot Dome case, by reason of the peculiar name—"Teapot Dome"—which is associated with the Fall-Sinclair prosecution, stirred up a great deal more public interest than the Elk Hills' oil lease, which figured in the Fall-Doheny trial.

Even during the senate investigation it was suggested that the country probably would have paid very little attention to a transfer of Naval Oil Reserve No. So-and-so, whereas a Teapot Dome transfer instantly caught the eye and ear, it looked and sounded so unusual.

Elk Hills is better than Naval Reserve No. So-and-so, but Teapot Dome is still more so.

The Fall-Doheny trial has given rise to a great deal of recent talk about "oil scandals."

Senator Heflin's emphatic remarks in the upper house of congress concerning the Fall-Doheny verdict have caused yet more of it. For what he said on the senate floor Heflin can't be called to account and he was unsparing in his denunciation of everything connected with the trial—prosecution and defense, witnesses, judge and jury.

The oil cases were a somewhat somnolent issue when Fall and Doheny were put on trial. They'll be an exceedingly wakeful one at the trial of Fall and Sinclair.

Doheny, in court, was a picturesque old prospector, with a kindly side to him—at any rate, as it was easily possible to present him. Sinclair is the hard, shrewd business man, and it will be difficult to present him otherwise. How Fall appears seems likely depend on the co-defendant he stands up with.

RECORD FRUIT CROP THIS YEAR

The final estimated value of West Virginia's fruit crop in 1926 shows that the state's crop of apples, peaches, pears and grapes have a total value of $8,744,725 or about 50 per cent greater than the total value for 1925 of $5,897,000. The large increase is due to increased production rather than higher prices as the prices for apples and peaches are only about half of what they were in 1925; according to John W. Smith, commissioner of agriculture for West Virginia and Barnard Gibbs of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS REOPEN MONDAY

Grant district public schools will reopen after the Christmas holiday vacation Monday, according to an announcement made today by Superintendent A. D. Osborne.

During the period repairs were made to the seating and heating arrangements in the Allison building, while improvements are to be made at the Franklin building.

Number of the teachers who have been spending the holidays in other places will return Sunday.

COUNTY ASSESSOR ATTENDING MEET

R. C. Evans, county assessor, is attending the annual meting of the assessors from every county in the state which opened at Charleston on Tuesday.

State Tax Commissioner Grant Hall is presiding at the sessions which included an address by Governor Howard M. Gore. Taxation questions were the principal matters considered.

Watch Night Parties.

Number of watch night parties are scheduled to be held tomorrow night by young people of the city. Services will be held in the Nazarene church.

Dance Plans Completed.

Plans have been completed for the dance to be held under the auspices of the Welfare department of the Homer Laughlin China company tomorrow night in the Eagles' hall, East Liverpool.

Music will be furnished by De Mar Miller's orchestra.

Many Attend Revival.

Large crowd attended the revival services last night in the Church of the Nazarene. The sermon was delivered by Rev. B. H. Pocock, pastor of the Nazarene church of Chester.

Holiday Will Be Observed.

New Years day will be observed as a general holiday here. Industrial plants will be idle while the business houses will be closed the greater part of the day. Holiday hours will be observed at the postoffice.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES DISCUSSED

Each and every community in West Virginia has it within its power to impose an offset against the increased insurance rates proposed by the fire insurance companies doing business in the state, it is asserted by State Fire Marshal C. L. Topping. Decreasing fire hazards, improving fire fighting facilities and giving fire prevention education the high status it deserves, will locally counteract the higher insurance cost in prospect, Mr. Topping declares.

"The city of Morgantown has just furnished an illuminating example of what can be done to keep insurance rates down," said the fire marshal. "The university city has gained the new and improved classification in fire insurance for which its officials have been striving for nearly a decade, and it will mean an annual saving to that city in insurance premiums of approximately $50,000.

To Open Floor Season.

Chester high school basketball team will open the season tomorrow night with the Alumni squad at Rock Springs park. The contest will be preceded by a preliminary game to begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Legion Post To Meet.

Attorney W. S. Foulks, of East Liverpool, will be the principal speaker tonight at the special meeting of the Chester American Legion post to be held in the First National bank building, Third street and Carolina avenue.

Scouts To Meet.

Members of Boy Scout troop No. 24 will meet tonight in the basement of the United Presbyterian church. The meeting will be in charge of Scoutmaster Rev. W. J. H. McKnight.

Nearly $300,000 worth of American made rubber shoes were sent from this to other parts of the world in a recent month.

BUCK JONES FILM BOOKED

"Flying Horseman" at American Friday and Saturday.

Although his screen career is shot through with exciting moments Buck Jones encountered some of the most gripping experiences of his life in making "The Flying Horseman," his latest Fox Films Western which opens a two-day run at the American theatre Friday. In this fast-moving story, based upon Max Brand's novel, Buck is surrounded by an excellent cast. Gladys McConnell has the leading feminine role.

Buck, cast as Mark Winton, is en route to the sleepy little town of Los Santos, when he encounters Bert Ridley abusing one of eight boys, the sons of Happy Joe. Happy Joe is a jolly old derelict who has a shack on the ranch of Colonel Savary. Ridley in love with June, Colonel Svory's daughter, takes a beating at the hands of Buck. He leaves swearing vengeance. How he compromises Buck, falsely accuses him of murder, and tries to prevent Silver Buck winning the Comanche Handicap lays the foundation for one of the most absorbing screen stories seen in recent months.

In the cast with Buck is Harvey Clark, inimitable comedian, and many other screen favorites. The list includes Bruce Covington, Walter C. Percival, Hank Mann, Vester Pagg, Joseph Rickson and eight of the liveliest youngsters in pictures.

Orville Dull directed the production from a scenario by Gertrude Orr.

'SUE DEAR' HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Don Lanning Comes to Ceramic Next Week.

"Sue Dear" will be the opening attraction of Don Lanning and company, which opens a week's engagement at the Ceramic theatre Monday. Lanning, East Liverpool boy, will appear in the role of Chickie O'Brien, the jewelry guard, and will offer several song and dance numbers.

Since leaving here early in the fall, Lanning has organized a harmony quartet, which compares favorably with the best in vaudeville. Tommy Creedon, who was with him for two years in the south, and his two dancing girls, Effie Burley and Vyonne La Tour, have rejoined the company.

Lanning's company will stage two performances each evening—at 7 and 9 o'clock. Popular prices will prevail.

AWAIT SENTENCE IN LOVE MURDER

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 30.—Mrs. Hantonia Kobrzycki, 34, and Alexander Miller, 36, who pleaded guilty Friday night to the murder of Mrs. Kobrzycki's husband, Paul, will be sentenced Friday. Mrs. Kobrzycki is the mother of three children and Miller the father of three. Paul was shot to death while he and his wife slept in two beds. Mrs. Kobrzycki and Miller confessed that they decided to kill Kobrzycki so that they might marry. Mrs. Kobrzycki admitted she left the doors of her home open to permit Miller to enter to shoot her husband.

Elks' League Quint To Play Wellsville

Face Nash Motors Tonight on Down River Team's Home Court; Columbiana Drops Back as Result of Defeat by East Palestine.

COMPLEXION of the Columbiana County Amateur Basketball League first half race is altered considerably as a result of three contests staged by loop rivals last night.

Columbiana was fooled to the extent of a 31 to 19 walloping by East Palestine; Lisbon emerged from its clash with Wellsville with its first victory of the season, 33 to 27; and Damascus set back Salineville, 24 to 18.

As a result of the changes in the standing the East Liverpool Elks, who now are tied for fourth place with East Palestine, face the opportunity of climbing into the third place bunk tonight if the Wellsville Nash Motors don't spring a surprise like that East Palestine handed Columbiana last night.

For Columbiana will tangle with Salem, the league leaders, at Salem, tonight, and although the contest should develop one of the keenest battles of the season to date, the odds prophecy a win for the Hullins Body quint. If Columbiana should win, which would be good news to the rest of the league teams, and the Elks fork out a victory, the two teams which remain in third and fourth places, respectively.

The Wellsville Nash Motors have been dogged by a jinx from the outset, losing every game of the schedule to the present time by only a few points—just enough to let the other team win—with the exception of the Salem encounter which was decisively copped by the Salemites.

Tonight they will make a bid to come back against the Elks.

Manager Davis was not certain at noon today whether the contest would be played at the high school gymnasium or the Methodist Episcopal church cage. On account of vacation week at the schools, it may be impossible to obtain the school gymnasium. In this event, he said, the game would be played on the church court.

The Wellsville quint used a number new players in last night's game Lisbon and although the efficiency of the team in general was bettered, the various individuals of the squad were unable to perfect an adequate team work against the county seaters.

East Palestine, as a result of its victory over Columbiana, together with Salineville's defeat, usurped the fourth place claims of the Washington township aggregation. The Columbianans, apparently, figured Paragons an easy bet, which they are not, and started their second string performers. Before the Boosters knew just exactly what was going on, East Palestine had run up an 8 or 10 point lead and despite the efforts of the Columbiana first squad, held on to it until the game was over.

Damascus continued its climb totoward the top by overthrowing Salineville, and now holds down second place, exclusively, ousting the Columbiana five.

Tuesday's game, calling for the appearance of Salineville at East Palestine, was postponed, because of the inability of the East Palestine management to get a floor, the Tourists' club court being occupied by Salineville and East Palestine high school teams.

STANFORD RED BIG FAVORITE

"Pop's" Pessimistic Warnings go Unheeded.

By Jack James.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Despite the efforts of Mr. Glenn Warner—sometimes known as "Pessimistic Pop"—to create an atmosphere of doubt and disillusionment, the sons of the Stanford Red continue to impress the impressionable in their daily cavortings on the Pasadena rose bowl greensward. Which goes to prove that murder will out, or something to the same general effect.

Mr. Warner would fain arouse in the public consciousness a sincere questioning of the Stanford varsity football squad.

Mr. Warner's squad, it may be recalled, enjoyed quite a successful season out here on the Pacific slope, handing out many a slap to the chin and taking proportionately few in return. Success of this sort is apt to have a kick-back, according to the findings of our leading psychologists.

The athletes so favored are apt, so declare these scientific gentlemen, to esteem themselves rather highly, and thus fall victim to their own delusions of grandeur.

Mr. Warner would much prefer to have his team enter this contest against the crimson tide of Alabama on day after tomorrow as the "under dog" in popular esteem. Under such circumstances, the good old fashioned "fight talk" with which every well brought up coach favors his troupe in critical moments just before the battle might be expected to take with more deadly effect.

Stanford finds favor hereabouts because the folks hereabouts saw Stanford come from behind a 12-point lead and nose into a 13-12 victory over the Trojans, and those Trojans were a fair country football team, mates, despite their two disappointments.

Football followers of this vicinity cannot forget the bewildering deception, the concerted power, the grim determination of the Stanford attack on that October afternoon. And because they remembered they figure that Alabama, or any other ball club, would have to be just short of super-human to deny a repetition of that attack.

If more football followers of this vicinity could have seen this same Stanford attack in the latter stages of it development—against the Washington huskies in the middle of November and against the bedraggled California Bears the Saturday following—they would be even more prone to favor Stanford, whether the opposition be Alabama, Notre Dame or Timbuctoo. Stanford looked unbeatable on those two appearances, and Stanford has not gone back appreciably since.

SMITH WINS SIX IN CUE TOURNEY

Smith, title winner in the American billiard tournament which closed recently, won six games and dropped only one to cop the laurels, the final standings show today. Johannes, whom Smith defeated in the play-off, won six and dropped two.

Shevers finished third with five victories and three defeats.

Rodebaugh and Herbert finished the campaign in a tie for fourth place, each with four wins and as many losses.

Two victories and five setbacks gave Shaffer sixth place, with Eisman and Trout winding up with one victory and six losses.

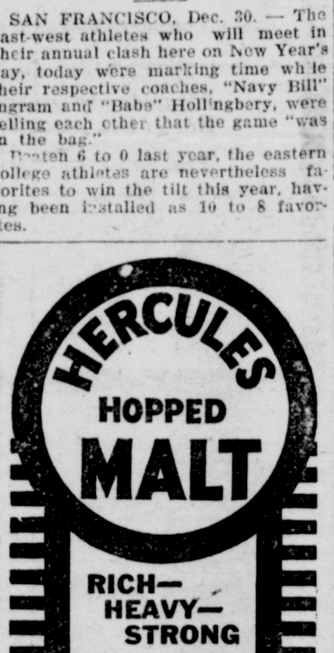

In last night's pocket billiard match, Jerry Lanning won decisively from L. Herbert, 75 to 39, contributing a high run of 27.

Sainer and McDowell will play tonight.

Tigers' Claws are Dulled by Buckeye Basketball Squad

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 30.—The Princeton basketball tiger was licking his various and assorted wounds today, and revising his views of Big Ten conference cage ability, as a result of a 33 to 13 victory administered by the Ohio State quintet here last night. The Buckeye squad led all the way, with Freddy Grim, star of the Columbia-Ohio football game, accounting for five baskets during the first half, when he left the game because of personal fouls. The Buckeye squad meets Cornell here tomorrow night.

Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director of Indiana University, will open a school next summer for sport officials. The sole object of the school is to teach men who plan to officiate in various branches of sport the rules of each game and the proper manner of handling each situation.

10 TO 8 ODDS ON INGRAM'S TEAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30. — The east-west athletes who will meet in their annual clash here on New Year's day, today were marking time while their respective coaches, "Navy Bill" Ingram and "Babe" Hollingbery, were telling each other that the game "was in the bag."

Beaten 6 to 0 last year, the eastern college athletes are nevertheless favorites to win the tilt this year, having been installed as 10 to 8 favorites.

COBB POLISHES LEGAL WEAPONS

Would Make Baseball "Swallow Its Words."

DETROIT, Dec. 30.—Ty Cobb, his eyes flashing the spirit that made him famous on the ball field, was here today to plan the fight he hopes will make organized baseball "swallow the words" that drove him from the diamond. He was accompanied by "Smoky Joe" Wood, former big league pitcher and E. S. Burke, of Cleveland, adviser and friend of Cobb.

The colorful star conferred with J. O. Murfin, prominent Michigan jurist, who will advise him on the legal course, if any, to pursue against those whose charges made him the center of baseball's latest scandal.

Neither Cobb nor Murfin would discuss reported plans for a suit against Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, Ban Johnson, president of the American League and the league itself.

"I am in the hands of my attorney," Cobb said. "From now on he will direct my course of action."

Cobb said he hasn't the slightest idea what he intends to do. Neither does Judge Murfin, his attorney, so he says.

"I want to know the circumstances in detail before I decide," Murfin said. "When I am thoroughly acquainted with the facts I will make an announcement."

Ty wasn't the dashing star of the last two decades when he came into the Michigan Central last night. He is only 40 but the lines and expressions that played about his face, made him appear much older.

Leaving the train, Cobb seemed depressed. He was hanging his head in much the same manner as he does while his team is fighting an uphill battle. He tugged his way up the elevated runway from the train, dejected, and unhappy.

But the short walk to a taxicab changed Ty's disposition entirely. The shouts of strangers, the handshakes of friends and the cries of newsboys: "Hello, Ty" cheered. He began to realize that he was back home.

Cobb and Wood declined to comment on a statement attributed to Fred O. West, former employe at Navin field, in which the latter was credited with saying that the money mentioned in the baseball scandal was wagered on a horse race and not on a ball game as claimed by "Dutch" Leonard, former Detroit pitcher.

"I have not read West's statement and have nothing to say," Cobb declared. Wood echoed Ty's stand.

West's statement cleared Cobb, Wood and Tris Speaker of all blame in the affair.

Will Allow Former 'Black Sox' Player To Tell His Story

"Swede", With "Inside Information," Charges Judge and "Big Bosses" Don't Want the Facts; Ex-shortstop Will be Given an Opportunity to Talk, Says Commissioner.

By Gene Hoffman.

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Charles "Swede" Risberg, former shortstop on the Chicago White Sox team, banished with six of his mates from organized baseball in 1920 following exposure of the "framed" world series of the year before, will be given an opportunity to tell what he knows of "crooked baseball," Commissioner K. M. Landis indicated today.

The former "Black Sox" infielder had announced that he had a lot of "inside information" that would crumble still further the tottering pillars of baseball, but charged that "Landis and the big bosses do not want this information."

Risberg pooh-poohed the Cobb-Speaker-Wood-Leonard scandal and ridiculed Commissioner Landis for his handling of the case. He challenged Landis to a showdown, and indicated that if the commissioner is really interested in "baseball crookedness," he could tell him things that would make the Cobb-Speaker affair look tame.

"But they don't want the facts," said Risberg.

That Landis and "the bosses" do want the facts was indicated today in Commissioner Landis' acceptance of Risberg's challenge. Asked what action he would take concerning Risberg's charges, Landis said:

"Of course he will be asked for the information. Anything along that line will be most welcome."

Risberg was quoted in telegraphic dispatches from Rochester, Minn., near where he spends his winters on a farm. He plays baseball at Watertown, South Dakota, during the summer. Risberg said he offered all his information during the grand jury investigation of the 1920 scandal, but that "nobody wanted to hear it."

CHURCH QUINTS TO RESUME PLAY

Play in the "Y" Sunday school basketball league will be resumed Monday night when the Lutherans and the Methodist Protestants clash on the M. E. court.

A meeting of team managers and representatives will be held on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Now here is that old question again—asked me more often by golfers than any other one question: Where is the weight at the top of the back swing? When you grip the ground with your feet during the address — by attempting slightly to drag the feet toward each other across the ground — you will find that at the top of your back swing, if you hold your head still, your weight appears to be about evenly divided between the feet, or it may appear to be slightly more on the left foot than on the right. The truth is, the weight is about evenly divided, but the left foot may appear to be supporting more of it for the reason that you are on your left toe only, while the right foot is flat. And there will be a considerable feeling of tightness about the middle body, and a slight but not uncomfortable tightness in the shoulders—not rigidity in either, however.
